MISS THORNTON LOSES BY THEFT $4,000 JEWELRY

Two Detectives Place Ella Pinson, a Negro Maid, Under Arrest.

4 DIAMOND RINGS TAKEN AND STRING OF PEARLS

Miss Jane Thornton Discovers Loss at 1 O'Clock in the Afternoon and Immediately Notifies Police Department of Her Loss—Detectives Are at Work.

The Atlanta police department and members of the detective department are now busily engaged working upon a most mysterious diamond robbery at the home of one of the most prominent families of the city. One arrest has already been made.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Jane Thornton, of 511 Peachtree street, daughter of the late Albert Thornton, who was vice president of the Atlanta National bank, notified the police department that she had lost her jewelry case, containing jewelry valued at over $4,000.

The contents of the lost case included four magnificent diamond rings and a beautiful string of pearls. Miss Thornton is one of the most popular and charming of the younger debutante set, and her loss has brought her the sympathy of a large circle of friends, who are taking great interest in the work of the detectives in this case.

Miss Thornton discovered the loss of her jewelry about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. She had gone to her room to secure one of the rings and was horrified to discover that the jewelry had been removed. A careful search was made and it soon became evident that the case had not been misplaced, but had been stolen.

The detective department was notified and Dorsett and Harper were sent to the home. After making a careful investigation and questioning everyone, including the servants, they decided to arrest Ella Pinson, a negro maid, believing that she would be able to give them some information on the subject. She was taken to the police station and her name placed on the state docket on the charge of "suspicion."

The arrest was made about 6 o'clock. The detectives are not through with the case, but will actively prosecute their inquiry today and hope to recover the jewels within a short time.

BATTLE FLEET SWEPT BY ANOTHER STORM

Big Vessels Didn't Suffer, but Steam Launches Were in Trouble.

Fort Monroe, Va., February 24.—After being flooded in brilliant sunlight throughout the morning, the American battle fleet," in Hampton Roads, was swept by another severe storm this afternoon. The big battleships and cruisers did not suffer in the least from the blow, but the steam launches running to the shore made decidedly heavy weather of it.

Two sailors on ship's launches were tossed overboard during the afternoon, but both were rescued with great difficulty. A launch belonging to the battleship Rhode Island was partly wrecked in trying to come alongside the ship's gangway. A luncheon party of ladies was aboard, and when the wave-tossed boat crashed into a side boom of the armor-clad, several of those on board fainted.

The water was the roughest known in recent years in Hampton Roads. Many tea and dinner parties planned on board the various ships had to be postponed.

Rear Admiral Sperry will leave for Washington tomorrow afternoon, instead of on Friday, as he at first had panned.

23 PERSONS INJURED IN CRASH OF TRAINS

Cleveland Trolley Car Struck By Pennsylvania Railway Train.

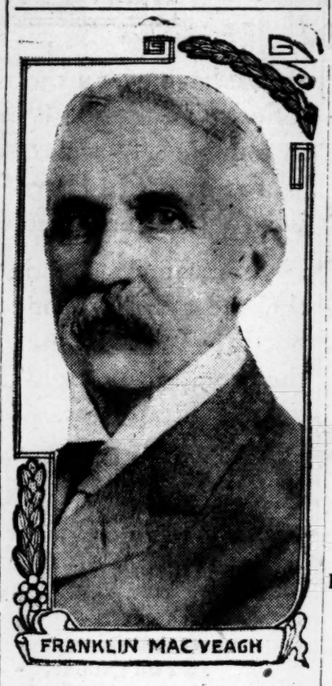

Cleveland, Ohio, February 24.—Three persons were fatally injured and twenty others hurt in a collision between a Pennsylvania railway train and a street car here tonight.

The street car was outbound and heavily loaded with passengers. At the grade crossing, steam from an exhaust pipe in a nearby factory obscured a view of the approaching passenger train. For this reason the gates were not lowered, and the car proceeded, although the car conductor had run ahead and pulled the derailing lever. The locomotive struck the car near the rear end, splitting it in two. Many passengers were hurled several feet. That many were not killed was due to the slow sped of the train.

Miss Alliene Borky, a nurse girl, who had fifteen-months-old Howard Clark in her arms, was thrown through a car window. She clung to the baby, and both escaped with only slight bruises.

FRANKLIN MACVEAGH

MACVEAGH CHOSEN FOR TREASURY

Taft to Put Chicago Man in Cortelyou's Place.

The President-Elect Refuses to Make Statement, but It Is Known the Place Has Been Offered To and Accepted By MacVeagh.

New York, February 24.—President-elect William H. Taft today completed his cabinet by the offer of the treasury portfolio and its acceptance. That the offer was made to and accepted by Franklin MacVeagh, of Chicago, is as near a positive statement of what is believed to be the fact, as may be made in the face of an absolute refusal by Mr. Taft to throw any light on the situation.

It is vaguely hinted that there are things to be accomplished in Washington before an announcement may be properly made. Mr. Taft gave a bold hint tonight that it might be possible for him to divulge the identity of his latest cabinet acquisition in the immediate future, but he at once qualified the hint with an expression of doubt.

Hepburn Considered.

In spite of the strong belief that Mr. MacVeagh has been offered the treasury portfolio, and had already, or would accept, there were reports that the name of A. B. Hepburn, of New York, former comptroller of the currency, had figured largely in the conferences on the subject. It was declared that should anything arise to eliminate Mr. MacVeagh from the list, as it is now understood to stand, Mr. Hepburn would be selected to take his place.

Mr. Taft's request brought Frank H. Hitchcock from Washington early today, and the two were in lengthy conference twice, C. P. Taft, who got here from Cincinnati this morning, participating in the first conference.

Taft at Funeral.

Mr. Taft began the day by attending the funeral of President Roosevelt's nephew, young Douglas Robinson. Mr. Roosevelt was also present at the service.

James R. Sheffield, president of the Yale alumni of this city, obtained Mr. Taft's promise to come here and address the association on March 18 next. Other callers were William Nelson Cromwell, R. C. Ogden and Booker T. Washington.

Mrs. Taft joined her husband from Philadelphia. The two were guests at dinner tonight of Mr. and Mrs. George Wickersham, Mr. Taft's attorney general, and later with them witnessed the play "The Gentleman from Mississippi" at the Bijou theater.

GOULD DIVORCE CASE GETS WOMAN IN TROUBLE

Mrs. Teal Held in $5,000 Bail for Attempted Subornation of Perjury.

New York, February 24.—Mrs. Margaret Teal, charged with attempted subornation of perjury in connection with the Helen Kelly Gould-Frank J. Gould divorce action, was committed to the Tombs prison by Judge Foster as the result of developments at the trial today. She has heretofore been out under $5,000 bail.

The witnesses today included Mrs. Julia Fleming McCabe, who was indicted with Mrs. Teal, and Detective Mousley. Blanche Hale, a manicurist, who said she was asked by Mrs. McCabe to sign a false affidavit in the case, and Margaret Falk, a colored dressmaker, who testified that she was approached with a similar proposition. Lieutenant Rayens, of the district attorney's staff, who made the arrests in the case, was also called to the stand, and told of finding a photograph of Gould and some of the affidavits signed by prospective witnesses, in Detective Mousley's pocket.

Former Mayor Ill.

Savannah, Ga., February 24.—(Special.) Former Mayor Herman Myers is critically ill in his apartments at the DeSoto hotel. Physicians say his condition is precarious. It is stated that his illness is not expected to result fatally immediately, but that is as far as his physicians will go.

GRAND DAMES GO TO PRISON FOR SUFFRAGE

Thirty British Women of High Social Position Jailed Wednesday Night.

GOVERNMENT IS PLACED IN UNLUCKY POSITION

High Standing of Women Arrested Causes Great Embarrassment to Premier Asquith — Women Declare That They Will Yield Liberty and Life to Get Ballot for Their Sex.

London, February 24.—Every effort of the suffragettes to force the hand of the government becomes more determined, and it is increasingly difficult to predict how their demands may be successfully parried.

The situation has taken on an embarrassing aspect for the government, owing to the high social position of many among some thirty or more women arrested this evening, these including Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, Lady Constance Lytton, sister of Lord Lytton, and daughter of the former viceroy of India; Miss Stratford Dugdale, daughter of Commander Dugdale, and cousin of Hon. William R. W. Peel, who was elected yesterday in a bye-election as member of the house of commons for Taunton; Miss Daisy Solomon, daughter of the ex-premier of Cape Colony, and Mrs. Catherine Elizabeth Corbett, an aristocratic supporter of the suffragette movement.

Both Sides Well Prepared.

Both sides were well prepared for tonight's attempt on the part of the suffragettes to force themselves on Premier Asquith, who yesterday had declined by letter to receive a deputation. The women held "parliament" at Caxton hall, and a number of them started on "danger duty" in a solid phalanx, led by Mrs. Lawrence.

The police, abandoning former tactics, of barring the approach to the house of commons, adopted the new plan of breaking up the procession close to Caxton hall. Finally several of the women, including Mrs. Lawrence, the leader, were placed under arrest.

Word of the reception of this deputation being brought to Caxton Hall, much excitement ensued, and Mrs. Saul Solomon volunteered to lead a second deputation to the house.

Exciting Street Scenes.

This, in effect, met the same fate, but led to more exciting street scenes and a much larger number of arrests. A third attempt was then organized at the hall, but this time the destination of the deputation was Brooks Club, where the premier was dining.

The leaders of the movement declare their intention to adopt still more forcible methods.

Miss Christibel Parkhurst, during the course of a speech, said:

When I speak of stronger measures I speak in all earnestness. We value neither our liberty nor our lives, unless the women of this country get a vote."

The women who were arrested were locked up for the night, and will be arraigned in the Bow street court tomorrow.

Mrs. Solomon was reproved in returning from the first exposition to the meeting for her failure to get arrested. She said she had done her best and would lead another attempt. All the expeditions were given musical honors when they se forth, the band playing the Marseillaise.

New York Women Seek Votes.

Albany, N. Y., February 24.—Hosts of suffragists and anti-suffragists, stylishly gowned, crowded the great assembly chamber in the capitol today and for over four hours their chosen speakers argued before the members of the judiciary committee of the senate and and assembly at a joint meeting, for and against current resolutions introduced by Senator Hill of Buffalo, and Assemblyman Toombs of New York, proposing an amendment to the constitution striking the word "male" from the suffrage law.

When Assemblyman Toombs arose to explain his bill he was greeted with a storm of applause from the suffragists. He declared that it would be a moral uplift to the Empire State to report the bill, and that when a man of the judicial mind of William H. Taft had come out for woman suffrage, there ought to be some argument in favor of reporting the measure.

"DRYS" CLOSING BARS IN THE HOOSIER STATE

Forty-One of the Ninety-Two Counties Have Voted Against Saloon.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 24.—As a result of the local option elections held in five counties yesterday, 41 of Indiana's 92 counties have declared against the saloon. Elections will be held in seven more counties this week, and the "drys" are claiming a victory in all of these, as there are no large cities in any of these counties.

Castro Not to Sail.

Paris, February 24.—The French line of steamers was questioned today concerning the statement that Cipriano Castro, the former president of Venezuela, had engaged passage for LaGualra on the steamer Guadeloupe, sailing next Friday, and said that no such reservation had been made.

$100,000 SALARY FOR PRESIDENT KILLED BY HOUSE

SWEEPING MAJORITIES AGAINST THE ADVANCES

Party Lines Are Obliterated in Fighting Advances — Some Members Alleged Effort Was Being Made to "Ape" Foreign Powers and Heaped Ridicule on the Increases.

Washington, February 24.—With its war paint on, the house of representatives today, by sweeping majorities, many times defied the senate by rejecting its amendments to the legislative appropriation bill, providing for salary increases for the president, the vice president, the speaker, the judiciary and for the creation of the office of under secretary and fourth assistant secretary of state. Party lines were obliterated completely.

Regular Field Day.

It was a regular field day in the lower body, where oratory and confusion vied with each other for honors. Not during the present congress has the speaker been compelled to wield his gavel with such force to bring about order as today. Of parliamentary tangles there were many, but the veteran presiding officer emerged from them all with his decision undisputed.

The battle waged for more than six hours, at the end of which the bill was sent to conference. So much time was consumed in consideration of the conference report on that measure that a night session was made imperative in order that further discussion on the sundry civil appropriation bill, which had dragged along for several days, might be had.

Sharp Attacks on Increases.

Messrs. Underwood, of Alabama, and Clark, of Missouri, criticised the senate increases, especially in reference to salaries. Mr. Clark, in particular, was emphatic in his objections to what he said were the "continual impositions of the senate in the matter of appropriation bills."

Messrs. Bingham, of Pennsylvania; Gillette, of Massachusetts, and Livingston, of Georgia, the house conferees, strenuously defended their report, which, insofar as there was no disagreement, was adopted.

When the discussion turned on the increase of the salaries of the president, vice president, speaker of the house and judges, about which the conferees could not agree, Mr. Clark declared there was much misinformation about the amount the president received, and said that instead of its being $50,000, it actually is $291,000 per annum.

By a vote of 57 to 102 the house refused to accept the senate amendment increasing the salary of the speaker.

The increase proposed in the president's salary from $50,000 to $100,000 a year was rejected, the vote being yeas 141, nays 168. Before the announcement was made Speaker Cannon directed that his name be recorded in the affirmative.

Unusual Scene Followed.

An unusual scene followed. Members were on their feet in a general scramble for recognition for motions of one sort or another. The speaker, unruffled by his besiegers, held that a motion by Mr. Watson, of Indiana, to recede from the amendment, and amend it so as to make the salary $75,000, was preferential.

The previous question was ordered, and on the vote being taken on the adoption of the amendment, it was carried 163 to 149, amid republican applause.

The effect of the amendment will be to leave where it now is the president's salary, added to which will be the $25,000 heretofore appropriated for traveling expenses, but which the bill strikes out as a specific item of transportation, etc.

A long debate was precipitated by Mr. Bingham's offering an amendment to the amendment of the senate, designating the proposed new official of the state department as "vice" secretary instead of "under" secretary, and reducing the salary from $10,000 to $7,500.

"Apeing" Foreign Powers.

Strenuous objection and ridicule even came from all sides as to both of the titles.

The charge having been made in several quarters that the United States was trying to "ape" foreign powers, Mr. Denby, of Michigan, disclaimed such a suggestion. The idea, he said, was to make the department conform to the diplomatic usage of all the world.

The amendment was vigorously supported by Mr. Watson, of Indiana, while Mr. Mann, of Illinois, in opposing the proposed creation of both the offices of under secretary and fourth assistant secretary, maintained that it was simply another way of giving office to two additional people.

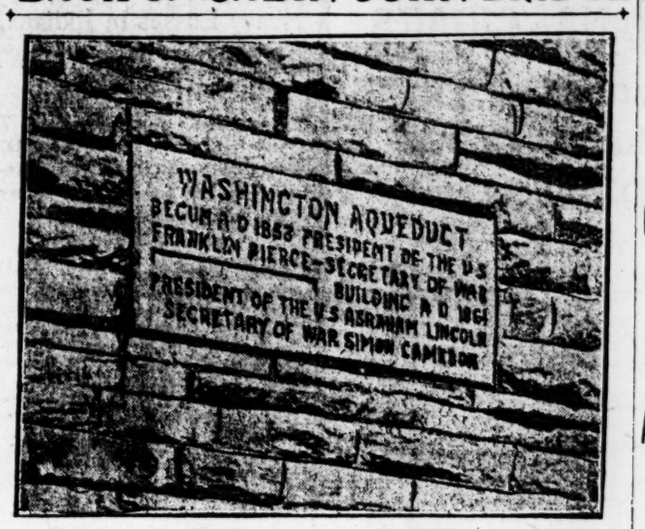

Without an opportunity being offered to vote on the Bingham amendment, the house, by a vote of 89 to 134, rejected the whole amendment.

All remaining senate amendments pertaining to the state department were likewise rejected.

The next battle waged was on the senate amendment increasing the salaries of judges, including those of the supreme court of the United States. Finding themselves in a helpless minority, the conference committee moved a non-concurrence in all the amendments. This action was taken, and the bill sent back to conference.

Although the members were primed for discussion of the secret service, the subject was allowed to go over until tomorrow. The bill was less than one-third completed when the house at 8:08 p. m. recessed until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

NAME OF JEFFERSON DAVIS BACK ON CABIN JOHN BRIDGE

The picture shows the tablet on Cabin John Bridge as it appeared after the name of Davis was chiseled out by order of government at the beginning of the civil war.

New Orleans, February 24.—The action of the secretary of war in issuing instructions for the restoration of the name of Jefferson Davis on the Cabin John bridge, near Washington, is hailed with much satisfaction among the members of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association. It is asserted that it was this organization, rather than the Daughters of the Confederacy, which inaugurated the movement to secure the re-inscription of the name of the southern leader in the place from which it had been chiseled.

CHALFANT GIVES A BOOST TO ATLANTA AUTO SHOW

New York, February 24.—(Special.)—E. P. Chalfant, manager of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers, is enthusiastic over the prospects of a big automobile show to be held in the new auditorium in Atlanta. Mr. Chalfant formerly lived in Atlanta, and is in close touch with conditions in the Georgia city, which he considers the logical center for the automobile trade in the south.

"There is every reason to expect a big automobile show in Atlanta to prove a big success," said Mr. Chalfant. "The new auditorium will be an excellent place for holding such a show, and I am confident that the proposition will receive the hearty indorsement of practically all the automobile manufacturers of the country.

Suggests Permanent Date.

"Such a show once held will undoubtedly be made an annual feature. In my opinion the best date for such an annual show would be the second week after the January show held annually in New York. Atlanta would be in position to secure the second show after the New York show and all the new models for the year could be placed on exhibition."

Not only is Mr. Chalfant confident that the Atlanta show would prove a success both for Atlanta and for the automobile dealers, but he is greatly interested in the matter personally, and will give his full cooperation. He says he will be glad to furnish any information desired as to details. His advice is sure to be of great value, and his influence will do a great deal toward winning favor for the Atlanta show with the manufacturers.

Suggests Show in March.

Although the time is almost too close to make it practical, Mr. Chalfant thinks that possibly a show might be held in Atlanta the week beginning March 27, which will be immediately following the Daytona Beach races, which will be held from March 23 to 26.

A large number of prominent cars will be represented in the Daytona races, and, of course, the different dealers will have experts to drive the cars. It might be possible to get these cars and experts to come to Atlanta from Daytona Beach. This, in itself, would be quite a nucleus for an automobile show and the other dealers would no doubt cooperate to the fullest extent.

PROMOTERS OF SHOW ACTIVELY AT WORK

The work for holding a conference in regard to the big automobile show is now well under way.

The conference was agreed upon in order that the Atlanta show can secure the recogition and support of the several show associations and have Atlanta placed on the circuit of national shows.

President E. W. Ganss of the Atlanta Automobile Trade Association, continues to receive letters and telegrams from manufacturers in which the Atlanta show is heartily indorsed.

The conference will take place in New York on March 10, and by that time the Atlanta association will have much important matter to present to the other associations.

Although but a short time has elapsed since the Atlanta association was organized, a great deal of important preliminary work has been done, and the members feel greatly encouraged.

The press throughout the country, and especially in the south, has taken up the Atlanta show, and is indorsing the project as one that will help the entire southern section, as well as Atlanta and Georgia.

San Francisco, February 24.—A $50,000 pearl necklace belonging to Miss Jennie Crocker, of this city, was stolen during the Mardi Gras ball given by Mrs. Charles O. Alexander at the St. Francis hotel last night. The theft was not reported to the police until tonight.

Miss Crocker was one of 402 guests invited to the ball, the list including all persons prominent socialy in this city. She was also a guest at the more exclusive dinner given by Mrs. Alexander before the ball. Miss Crocker wore the jewels at the dinner, and still had them on when she donned her costume for the ball.

She went to the ballroom at 11 o'clock with the pearls hidden under her costume. She did not become aware that they had disappeared until nearly 4 o'clock in the morning.

Miss Jennie Crocker is the 24-year-old daughter of the late Frederick Crocker, one of California's wealthiest pioneers. She is one of the richest women in the west.

TEN PERSONS KILLED AND SEVENTEEN HURT

Hamburg, February 24.—Ten persons were killed and seventeen injured tonight through the slipping of a gangway between the wharf and the steamer Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, which was being loaded preparatory to sailing for New York on Saturday next. No passengers were among the victims.

Those on the gangway when the accident occurred included members of the crew, stevedores and stewardesses. They were dashed into the water, which was covered with thick drift ice. The majority of them sustained broken bones, and several were badly crushed. Only seventeen of them were rescued, and the officials estimate the dead, some of whose bodies have not yet been recovered, at ten or more.

DUNCAN B. COOPER PLACED ON RACK BY PROSECUTION

ALLEGED THAT COOPER USED STATE'S MONEY

He Admits He Was Mixed Up With State Treasurer Polk, Who Robbed Tennessee of Thousands—The Prosecution Wants the Jury to Inspect "Honor" of Colonel Cooper.

Nashville, Tenn., February 24.—After a day replete with exciting incidents and interesting developments, the session of the Cooper-Sharp trial for the murder of former Senator Carmack closed with the aged defendant, Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, still on the stand. The direct examination of the colonel, which began early yesterday morning, lasted until nearly noon today.

Almost the first thing the state did on cross-examination was to announce that it would try to prove that Colonel Cooper was a defaulter to the extent of over $100,000 while clerk and master of chancery in Maury county. This precipitated a bitter fight between counsel, during which some harsh words were used and much anger was displayed, despite the efforts of Judge Hart to hold the reins tightly.

State Springs Surprises.

The state won a partial victory and straightway sprang another surprise. It resurrected some old legislative records concerning an investigation into the defalcation of State Treasurer M. T. Polk in the early '80's. They offered to prove that thousands of dollars of the state's money was invested by Polk with Colonel Duncan B. Cooper and others in a Mexican silver mine scheme, a Walnut Log scheme in North Carolina and a scheme to buy The Nashville American.

Colonel Cooper admitted that there were irregularities in his office of clerk

Common Sense

Leads the most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle-wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. No Secrets. No Deception.

The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody, Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulæ, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized.

Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs.

Examine the formula on their bottle-wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (so medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and hang-on-coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials although the latter are received by thousands.

Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood.

FLOOD SWEEPS THREE STATES

Heavy Losses in Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee.

Taylorsville, Ky., Reports 7 Feet of Water in Streets. Poinsett County, Ark., Reports Six Lives Lost—Many Buildings Demolished.

Louisville, Ky., February 24.—The flood of rain which raged during the past twenty-four hours over nearly all of Kentucky and portions of Indiana and Tennessee, has done thousands of dollars damage in Louisville alone, caused the death early today of John Price, a negro, and the loss of over five hundred head of cattle in and around this city. Every river and creek throughout the deluged territory is bankful and many have overflowed. The damage in the Green river district and along the streams in the western part of Kentucky is heavy. The lower Ohio is rising rapidly at all points and a big flood is predicted.

Suffered Heavy Loss.

Beargrass creek is responsible for most of the damage inside of the city. In the vicinity of the Ballard mills, at Broadway and Underhill, it spread out fan-shape, carrying destruction in its path. It was here, with the greatest difficulty, that one hundred families were taken from their homes by the fire department.

Taylorsville, on Salt river, 40 miles from Louisville, is waterbound, the water being 7 feet deep in the principal street. There is a shortage of food, and no trains can be gotten within 10 miles of the place. Many families are reported in peril.

Six Lives Reported Lost.

Memphis, Tenn., February 24.—That the storm of wind and rain which prevailed in eastern Arkansas, northern Mississippi and western Tennessee yesterday was severe is confirmed by advices received early today. The town of Fisher, in Poinsett county, was practically destroyed, reports received stating that but two buildings remain intact, while six persons were killed and a number of others sustained more or less serious injuries.

Near Augusta the dead number six and others were injured. In Lonoke a child was killed. Telegraph and telephone wires through the storm-swept section, however, are prostrated and the full extent of the storm damage is not yet known. In Mississippi considerable damage was done to property.

In Memphis and vicinity the storm was quite severe. At Aulon Mrs. C. E. Baldwin was caught among the wreckage of her home and seriously injured. At Gregg's Station a church building was razed and several small houses wrecked, W. T. Barnum being injured. At Binghamton several buildings were damaged.

Farmer Was Killed.

Tuscumbia, Ala., February 24.—A tornado passed over this section last night, doing considerable damage to property near this place. The residence of W. M. Andrews, a prominent farmer residing near here, was blown down and a 2-year-old son was killed. His 14-year-old daughter suffered a broken leg. A number of houses were unroofed.

Ohio River in Flood Stage.

Cincinnati, Ohio, February 24.—Following rains for intensity in many places like cloudbursts, the Ohio river at this point passed the flood stage of 50 feet this afternoon. Nearly all points up and down the river and on the larger tributaries also reported flood conditions either present or threatened. So rapidly did the river come up that many of the less experienced river men were almost caught napping, the 24-hour jump in stage having been at the rate of half a foot an hour and continuing at the rate of over an inch an hour.

The railroads are still in normal condition in this city, but the official prediction of at least 55 feet by tomorrow forecasts the abondonment of the Grand Central station, which is threatened by a 53-foot stage and made inaccessible for traffic at 55 feet.

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Government Will Organize Leagues Among Negroes.

Savannah, Ga., February 24.—Acting under orders from Surgeon General Wyman, Surgeon C. P. Wertenbaker will tomorrow start a campaign for county leagues of negroes through Georgia in a fight against tuberculosis. He will address a gathering of negroes from all over the state at the Georia Industrial college tomorrow. His headquarters during his campaign will be in Savannah.

Dr. Wertenbaker declares the death rate among negroes from tuberculosis is twice that among white persons from the same cause. Before his campaign ends he intends that every county in Georgia shall have a compact league headquarters, equipped in the best possible way to fight tuberculosis in that county.

JUDGE ENJOINS MAYOR

And Council From Revoking Near Beer License.

Macon, Ga., February 24.—(Special)—Judge Felton, in the superior court, today signed an order restraining the mayor and council of Macon from revoking the licenses of Edward Cassidy and J. E. Bunch for the sale of near beer, growing out of the raids that were made on the two places several days ago. The effort will be made to retain the near beer license.

Alderman Wheeler introduced a resolution in council last night calling for the revocation of the licenses, but the temporary injunction stopped the enforcement, and the measure is now in the hands of the council committee.

Whale 60 Feet Long.

Norfolk, Va., February 24.—A whale, sixty feet in length, and estimated to weigh 8,000 pounds, was found in fishing nets off Buckroe Beach, above Old Point Comport. It was dying from a great wound in the head, and lived but a short time. It is thought to have been struck by a ship.

WILL MAKE ATTEMPT FOR BELL'S LIBERTY

Habeas Corpus Proceedings at Greensboro.

Attempt to Get Former Legislature Out of Asylum Will Be Made Today by Mrs. Burton.

Greensboro, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—Judge Lewis will today hear the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Mrs. Blanche Burton for the freedom of George H. Bell, now confined in the state asylum at Milledgeville. The case is one of state-wide interest, not only because of the fact that Mr. Bell was once representative from Emanuel county in the legislature, but because it is contended he is wrongly held, in that the assertion is made that he is of sound mind and not a fit subject for the asylum.

A trial was held in Baldwin county, but Bell was detained.

Mrs. Burton Leaves Macon.

Macon, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—Tomorrow Mrs. Blanche Burton, accompanied by Attorney W. D. McNeil, of this city, will appear before Judge Lewis, in Greensboro, on a habeas corpus proceeding in the interest of George H. Bell, whose freedom from the state asylum is being asked. Bell has already had a trial in Baldwin county and has been detained, but the effort will still be pushed.

SUMMARY OF THE SENATE.

Agricultural Money Bill Was Discussed at Length.

Washington, February 24.—The agricultural appropriation bill was under discussion in the senate during practically the entire session today. Senator McCumber, of North Danota, discussed at length the right of congress, under the constitution, to fix standards for grain, and declared that present practices make impossible the sale of western grain at the prices to which it is really entitled.

Senator Heyburn denounced the methods of administering the forest service, in a speech which occupied two hours. Consideration of the bill was not concluded.

The senate at 5:40 p. m. adjourned.

Smith Released on Bond.

Anniston, Ala., February 24.—(Special.)—Contrary to expectations, Edgar Dwight Smith, former stamp clerk at the Anniston postoffice, accused of embezzling $1,974.97 of the stock and funds of the office, waived an examination before United States Commissioner G. B. Randolph Wednesday and was put under bond of $1,000 for his appearance before the United States grand jury at the spring term of the United States circuit court, which will meet here the second Monday in May. The bond was accepted and the prisoner released.

Breath Odors Removed by Charcoal

A Trial Package of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges Sent Free by Mail.

The stomach and digestive canal of man fills with gases from fermenting and decaying food. Such gases impregnate the breath, filter through the system, spread disease and in large quantities extend the stomach so that it shuts off heart action and death sometimes results.

Pure, simple willow charcoal absorbs gas at once and stops impure food fermentation. It sweetens the stomach, kills the effect of all odors, such as liquor, tobacco, onions, etc., or at least prevents them from causing impurities to arise.

The willow is renowned for its curative properties and ancient legendary lore is filled with its use, by barbarians and civilized men. As early as 500 B. C. the ancient Chaldeans were sagely curing disease by charcoal and every monastery of the old world healed the sick and cured the drunkard by using powdered willow charcoal.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are pure willow charcoal, compressed with honey into a delicious lozenge. They contain nothing but sweet willow charcoal and honey. One may eat a box of them and feel only benefit from so doing. Two or three after a meal will be a sufficient guard against bad breath and the same amount eaten just before bed time will insure a pure breath upon arising the next morning.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges tone up the blood, the liver and the stomach. They are great laxatives also, but eating large numbers of them does not increase their effect in a painful manner upon the bowels.

They are gentle, powerful and pure and their popularity and tremendous sale give them the stamp of public approval. Go to your druggist today and buy a box, price 25 cents, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. $300,000 FIRE IN JACKSONVILLE

In Heart of the Business District.

Florida Electric Co. and Jacksonville Gas Co. Heaviest Losers—High Winds Threatened to Spread Flames, but Only One Building Destroyed

Jacksonville, Fla., February 24.—The three-story brick building on the south side of Forsyth street, in the heart of the business district, was completely destroyed by fire this afternoon, entailing a loss estimated at $300,000. The building was occupied by the Florida Electric Company, one of the largest electric supply houses in the south; J. H. Trembly, real estate; McGraw Bros., phonographs, bicycles, etc.; Jacksonville Gas Company, on the first floor, while the second floor was occupied as store rooms for the Florida Electric Company. The third floor was occupied as lodge rooms for the Eagles, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and other organizations.

The fire started on the second floor, the blaze being discovered at 3 o'clock. An alarm was sent in which called every apparatus in the service, but upon the arrival of the firemen, the entire upper portion of the building was in a mass of flames. Chief Haney, of the fire department, called out reserve wagons, as a strong wind was sweeping from the southwest, which threatened to spread the flames to adjoining property, but with hard work, the firemen working until after 10 o'clock tonight, the fire was confined to the one structure.

The loss on the building will be total, while the Florida Electric Company and the Jacksonville Gas Company, which carried heavy stocks, will be the heaviest losers. Firemen did excelent work in saving the principal business district of Jacksonville, for at one time it looked as if the entire block of handsome buildings would be destroyed.

AMEND PURE FOOD ACT.

Homeopathists Want Congress to Take Action.

New Orleans, February 24.—The Southern Homeopathic Medical Association, the annual convention of which was begun here today, adopted the following resolution this afternoon in reference to the federal pure food and drug act:

"The American Institute of Homeopathy, the National Society of the Homeopathic Profession, demands of congress when it again assembles the passage of an amendment to the pure food and drug act, which would add the words 'or in the homeopathic pharmacopia of the United States' after the words 'National Formulary' wherever they occur in the law. We demand this in order that the standards in the pure food and durg act may be made complete by providing for the uniform strength and preparation of nearly three hundred fresh plant tinctures, which are at present unprovided for, and also that justice may be done to thousands of physicians whose scientific remedies are classed among proprietary or quack remedies."

The meeting was called to order by President V. H. Hallman, of Hot Springs, Ark. A number of interesting papers are scheduled for presentation by prominent members of the homeopathic branch throughout the country. The convention will continue through Friday.

The executive committee of the American Institute of Homeopathy met this afternoon and fixed the time for the national meeting for June 21 and 22. It will be held in Detroit. It was announced that steps would be taken to incorporate the institute under the laws of the District of Columbia.

20 Years With Heart Trouble

"Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has cured me of heart disease of over 20 years' standing. I was so bad that I could not do my work, and could scarcely draw a full breath without fainting or smothering. The doctor told me he could do no more for me; then I commenced taking the Heart Remedy. I shall never forget that night. I slept better than I had before in months. I kept right on getting better, until I was perfectly well."

MRS. LAURA RUSSELL,
Logan, Iowa.

When the heart action is weak, it fails to pump the blood through the lungs with sufficient rapidity. Then the lungs do not absorb the proper amount of oxygen, although they may be taking in a normal amount of air. The result is shortness of breath, smothering spells, difficult breathing, oppressed feeling in chest. Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, and in this way increases the circulation.

NEGRO ANTI-SALOONISTS OPEN SESSIONS HERE

Purpose of Meeting Stated and Committee on Organization Appointed.

The Southern Negro Anti-Saloon Conference held its opening session yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the People's Tabernacle, this city, with Rev. E. R. Carter in the chair.

After the devotional exercises were concluded Dr. Alexander S. Jackson, of Dallas, Texas, chairman of the executive committee, stated the reasons for calling this meeting as follows:

1. To make a representative expression of the desire of the negroes in the south to do what they can to help the element of southern white people who are endeavoring to emancipate this section of our land from the curse and scourge of the liquor traffic.

2. To contradict the slander against the race by the liquor people in their oft-repeated claim that the negro is bound to them, soul and body.

3. To make plans for a canvass of what voting strength we have, where decisive battles have not yet been fought against this modern Moloch, and marshal the better part of it to be cast with the good white people of the south, who are voting God's way on this great question.

4. To start a propaganda for the education of sentiment and opinion among our race in the south favorable to the enforcement and observance of these prohibition laws which are being enacted by those who are responsible for legislation. In this phase of our work there are no limitations to what we believe we can do as our part of this great work, which means so much of good to our people.

5. To perfect an organization for the effective performance of our part of the movement, which is seeking south-wide prohibition.

At the morning session addresses of welcome were made by Rev. Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, and Dr. C. L. Johnson, of the Methodist Episcopal, of this city. Rev. Dr. M. C. B. Mason, corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, of Cincinnati, Ohio, responded to the addresses of welcome.

Rev. J. W. Jackson, of the Liberty church, this city, was elected the recording secretary of the conference.

At the afternoon session Dr. B. F. Riley, of Texas; Dr. W. B. Crumpton, superintendent of the state anti-saloon league of Alabama, and J. B. Richards, superintendent of the state anti-saloon league of Georgia, were introduced and made brief addresses. Bishop J. S. Flipper, of the A. M. E. church, also addressed the meeting.

The following committee on plans of organization, ways and means, were appointed:

Georgia, Dr. E. R. Carter; Oklahoma, William Harrison, attorney; Tennessee, Dr. A. R. Griggs; Texas, Mrs. E. E. Peterson; Ohio, Dr. M. C. B. Mason; North Carolina, Bishop Franklin; Arkansas, Bishop J. S. Flipper; Liberia, Bishop H. M. Turner; Congregational church, Dr. Proctor; C. M. E., Dr. R. A. Carter; M. E. church, Dr. Rush; Baptist, Dr. E. P. Johnson; A. M. E., Dr. I. N. Ross; A. M. E. Z., Dr. Alexander.

The sessions this morning, afternoon and night will be held in the Wheat Street Baptist church, Auburn avenue and Fort street.

IT COST THE CITY $28 FOR EACH BALLOT CAST

Chicago, February 24.—It cost the city of Evanston $28 for each ballot cast at yesterday's primary election. There was no contest in the election and only the socialist party had a ticket in the field. Twenty-five votes were cast at a total cost of $700 for holding the primaries.

ROOSEVELT ATTENDS FUNERAL OF NEPHEW

New York, February 24.—President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt and their daughters, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Miss Ethel Roosevelt, were in this city today to attend the funeral of Stewart Douglas Robinson, the president's nephew. The young man, who was the son of Douglas Robinson, of this city, was killed by a fall from the window of a dormitory at Harvard university Saturday night.

At the ferry house on the New York side, the president's party was met by Theodore Robinson with two automobiles, and conveyed to the home of Douglas Robinson.

There were no funeral services at the Robinson residence. The funeral party, including the president, remained at the residence only a short time, and then proceeded to the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Communion, where the burial ritual of that church was read by the rector, the Rev. Henry Mottet.

President Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and their daughters, Mrs. Longworth and Ethel Roosevelt, and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., left Jersey City for Washington at 11:45 a. m. today.

Washington, February 24.—President Roosevelt and members of his family returned from New York at 4:47 p. m. and were immediately driven to the white house. The train was thirty-two minutes late.

NO CALHOUN JURY YET.

Twelfth Man Secured, but Two Others Put Out.

San Francisco, Cal., February 24.—The prospect of completing a jury to try Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, upon an indictment charging bribery, was indefinitely postponed today, when, after accepting the twelfth juror, the attorneys introduced evidence and arguments in support of challenges which eventually vacated two seats in the box.

John Scollard, a hotel proprietor, was dismissed from the jury under challenge by the prosecution, and Arthur S. Holman, an insurance agent, was challenged.

For Census of Japanese.

Sacramento, Cal., February 24.—The senate today passed the bill providing for a census of Japanese in the state to determine whether or not California should ask for a general Asiatic exclusion act. The bill already has passed the assembly and will be signed by the governor at once. It empowers the state labor commissioner to take the census.

WHY WRIGHT LOST CABINET PLACE

Said to Be Friction Between Him and Taft; Hence Dickinson Succeeds Him.

Washington, February 24.—Nothing in connection with the unofficial announcement of the new cabinet has caused more comment in Washington than the quiet, but conclusive elimination of Luke E. Wright, of Tennessee. Always associated in the Washington mind as "Taft's man," it was assumed that his continuance in the cabinet was a matter of his own volition, and, that if he were dropped, it would be done in such a manner as to leave the friendship and association between him and the next president unbroken.

But The Cincinnati Enquirer has it that it develops in connection with the selection of Mr. Dickinson, that not only have the relations between Mr. Taft and Mr. Wright been strained, but that he has been in the cabinet as not "Taft's man," but as "Roosevelt's man," and that his elimination is in line and not in conflict with the theory of an "all Taft" cabinet.

When the selection of the Philippines commission was made in March, 1900, it was at the suggestion of Judge Day, of Ohio, then the secretary of state, that Taft was made its president.

A further suggestion of Judge Day's was that a member of the commission be selected from the south. Luke Wright was selected upon the joint recommendation of Taft and Day. A law partner of Senator Turley, of Tennessee; a son-in-law of Admiral Semmes, of the confederate navy, he had been known to both Taft and Day as an attorney before the Sixth judicial circuit. His was the first appointment to office, under a republican administration, of an ex-confederate.

From the beginning of the Taft commission regime in the Philippines the friendship between Taft and Wright was pronounced. It was the kind of an intimacy which seldom exists between men of mature years. In every fight which Taft had in the Philippines Wright was his most conspicuous lieutenant. With the traditional attitude of the southerner toward the dark-skinned races, Wright represented a balance for Taft's more extreme views as to the possibility of hastily preparing the Filipino for self-government.

When Taft was relieved and came to the United States to succeed Mr. Root as secretary of war it was at his suggestion that General Wright was appointed his successor as the civil governor of the Philippines.

Within a few months thereafter and shortly after the secretary's trip to the Philippines it was announced that Mr. Wright would be succeeded as governor of the Philippines by Henry C. Ide, and would go to Japan as ambassador. The Japanese assignment did not last long. Ambassador Wright resigned and returned to Memphis.

During the trip of the governors of the central states down the Mississippi river, during the summer of 1907, President Roosevelt was the guest in Memphis of General Wright. A conference ensued, and thereafter General Wright was appointed into President Roosevelt's cabinet as the successor to William H. Taft as secretary of war.

It is stated here tonight that his differences with Secretary Taft were discussed freely with the president at that time.

New York, February 24.—A magistrate in Flushing, L. I., refused to accept a block of steel stock offered by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, as bail for Curt Schmidt, Mr. Cary's chauffeur, who was arrested for speeding. The Gary automobile was stopped on Long Island Sunday and at that time Mr. Gary put up $100 in cash for his chauffeur's appearance. Yesterday he requested Magistrate Connolly to continue the cash bail and when this was refused he proffered a block of steel stock as security. The magistrate declined to accept the stock and Mr. Gary substituted therefor four automobiles valued at $40,000.

TAFT LAUDED IN SKETCH WRITTEN BY ROOSEVELT

The President's Sketch Feature of the Inaugural Souvenir.

Washington, February 24.—The remarkable feature of the "inaugural souvenir," issued by the committee in charge of the inaugural ceremonies is a biographical sketch of President-elect Taft by President Roosevelt. It has peculiar significance in view of rumors published to the effect that friction existed between Roosevelt and Taft. The keynote of the president's sketch may be found in these words:

"No man of better training, no man of more dauntless courage or common sense and higher character has ever come to the presidency that William Howard Taft."

The president, in concise terms, precedes this statement with a history of the president-elect, touching simply upon his public achievements.

BROXTON FACES BRIGHT FUTURE

One of State's Most Energetic Municipalities.

Situated in an Unusually Rich Agricultural Section, Town Has Made Wonderful Strides Forward in the Last Three Years.

By Eugene Ray.

Broxton, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—Broxton was a wise town—it took the precaution to locate itself in one of the best farming sections of which south Georgia boasts.

Just when Broxton began its career, nobody seems to know exactly—not that it was so long ago, but because it has changed so, nobody is positively certain that it is the same town. Broxton was, for years, just a name. Some fond parent, anticipating its coming, named the child before it was fairly born. For a long time, it was the name of what was coming. If some one had not been so imprudent as to name the place years ago, it might now honestly be said that the town is not more than three years old.

Where, three years ago, a farmer was sowing peas, there are now nice, new residences and commodious new brick stores. Where there were a village and a farm three years ago there is now a modern town of 1,500 population.

As in the mining region of the great west, towns here spring up over-night, but here the people are not come to get all the gold and silver in a day, but stay to take some every year, leaving some for the next year and the next man.

That is Broxton. Three years ago, the most there was of it were a name and a house and a farm. But today it is the modern town, with 1,500 people in it.

Broxton sprang up in a day, but landed safe and is safe. When panics are epidemic, towns like Broxton and Willacoochee, both in Coffee county, can not suffer much—their resources are so varied and certain. If I was a stranger and was "prospecting" in Coffee county, I would naturally go to Douglas first and see the land-owners there and the country nearby, but before I located I would visit Willacoochee and Broxton.

On the Georgia and Florida.

Broxton is on a branch of the Georgia and Florida railroad, nine miles from Douglas. H. F. Land, who has traveled all over south Georgia, and whose home is at Broxton, says that there are few, if any, better farming sections than this around Broxton. He estimates, too, that not more than one acre in fifty is in cultivation in this section. The crops on that acre are fine; there is no doubt about it. It is more elevated up here, and so much more rolling. It is known as a "hilly country." Yet it is said that less than half a dozen miles from Broxton there is a body of land on which a farmer could make him one field of five thousand acres, and as he worked at one end of it, he could see his hired hand at the other end.

The country, generally, about Broxton is a plateau, high and rolling, well watered and well-timbered. It has the clay foundation and free-stone water. It is said this clay is so hard and stiff that a well does not need to be curbed, and that the well-digger is paid double price for his work. A few miles from Broxton there is a spring of sulphur water that is for the healing of the people.

Carloads of Potatoes.

From the country around Broxton there are shipped yearly twenty car loads of sweet potatoes. As many more are shipped at Douglas, and Willacochee justly boasts of its business in all kinds of home-raised products. I have learned that one planter near Douglas made 720 bushels of sweet potatoes on two acres, 360 bushels to the acre. He sold his crop at 60 cents a bushel, the total sum received being $432.60. The fertilizer used on the two acres cost only $37.50. Mr. Willis Newbern is the farmer who did that.

S. A. Lott, one of the first farmers of the county, and now a capitalist of Douglas, has as much as fifty acres in sweet potatoes, and made 300 bushels to the acre. I mention the potato crop now, having in other letters told of the corn and cotton crops. There are still other crops that I might tell about.

A Hustling Town.

The town of Broxton, in the northern part of the county, is a steady, industrious, ambitious youngster that will be heard from in the years to come. It has much to boast of, and much to encourage it. A stranger enjoys life there, for the people soon make him forget that he has just come. I think that they realize they have enough to divide with others.

Besides its rich agricultural section, Broxton still has its forests of pine timber, and nine miles away, on the Ocmulgee river, are various kinds of hardwoods. Right in the city, the Dorminy-Price Lumber Company has its mill, and is sawing monthly a million feet of lumber, besides planing 400,000 feet every month. It is a corporation with a soul. It works convicts, and when so much "investigating" was being done last year, the camp at the Dorminy-Price Lumber Company was reported to be one of the cleanest and best in the state, in which there was no fault or default. Those negro convicts who were once sent away to another camp made their report as they left Dorminy-Price—they cried and moaned because they had to go away. This company owns the waterworks and electric light plant of the town.

To Build New Road.

The Georgia and Florida has this branch out from Douglas, its terminus at Barrow's Bluff on the north. This branch line is 21 miles in length. McRae, a bold, well-to-do town, is only 20 miles north of Barrow's Bluff. Already the people of McRae and Telfair county have taken steps to build a line from that town to Barrow's Bluff, and undoubtedly the line will be built. It would open up a section of country as rich in natural resources as any down here. It would cross the Ocmulgee river at or near Barrow's Bluff, where it would connect with this branch line of the Georgia and Florida. In there is a vast area of timbered land whose owners are just waiting for some means of transportation so they may market their product—not only land covered with the yellow pine, but land at the Ocmulgee river covered with various kinds of swamp timber. That is one thing notable about these south Georgia people—if railroad people will not take their money and build a railroad where one is needed down here, the merchant and saw mill man and farmer take their own money and build their own railroad. And it seems that the railroad builder keeps an eye on this country; when he sees that the people of a section are in earnest and really mean to have a railroad, he comes down and takes a hand with them.

Broxton will be benefited by this new line, which will extend from Douglas to McRae. And it is generally believed that it would be extended north from McRae to Dublin, passing through one other section that deserves a railroad. The whole face of south Georgia is being changed yearly by the new lines of railroad.

Broxton and Willacoochee are the two other important towns in Coffee county, Douglas, the county seat, being the first. Willacoochee already has its two lines—trunk lines—of railroad, and Broxton, because of its wealth of natural resources and the fertility of the soil and the enterprise of its people, will continue to grow.

House Dynamited.

Birmingham, Ala., February 24.—Charles Gallant was killed and his wife dangerously injured this morning at 2 o'clock when some miscreant dynamited their home at Woodstock, 30 miles from the city. Gallant operated the steam shovel at Westgils, at the Central Coal and Iron Company's ore mines. Dogs are being taken to the scene in the hope of getting a clew.

Trial of Clements.

Decatur, Ala., February 24.—The case of Bob Clements, charged with the wholesale murder of the Edmondson family at Woodland Mills, Morgan county, will be called for trial this afternoon. Motions to quash the indictments will be made. It will likely be Wednesday before a jury is secured if the case goes to trial. The court room was packed this morning and many were disappointed that Clements' case was not called.

Not Responsible for Liquor.

Washington, February 24.—The supreme court yesterday reversed the decision of the Kentucky court, which held the American Express Company liable for the loss to consignees in Kansas to whom liquors had been sent through the company in gallon packages, which were seized and destroyed under the Kansas prohibition law.

GANG OF SWINDLERS HELD BY GOVERNMENT

It Is Alleged They Secured Something Like Half Million Through Mails.

Little Rock, Ark., February 24.—That their field of operations extended over the entire country, and their victims number nearly a hundred, from whom almost a half-million dollars were secured during the past two years, is the declaration of the state and federal officials who caused the arrest yesterday of J. C. Mabry and three alleged confederates, leaders, it is charged, of a most thoroughly organized band of swindlers, on a charge of using the mails to defraud. In searching the effects of Maybray last night records were found giving the names, the authorities declare, of men who were victimized, and as well as of over 300 others, stationed in every state in the union and in several provinces in Canada, whom, the officers assert, acted as agents of the men.

During their residence in Little Rock the quartet occupied a home in Pulaski Heights, a fashionable suburb. A suite of offices in a downtown office building completed the local background for their operations, which, it is alleged, were to arrange bogus wrestling matches and foot and horse races.

Chief Inspector Swanson, of the United States postal service, with headquarters in Council Bluffs, Iowa, who has been investigating, with several local officers, effected the arrests.

When arraigned before United States Commissioner Allen, the men entered a plea of not guilty, and a continuance was had until March 2 to permit the government to produce their witness.

The men arrested gave their names as J. C. Maybray, F. M. Clark, J. M. Johnson and Isadore J. Warner. They were identified by L. C. Cavanaugh, of New Orleans, who declared that he lost $25,000 on a previously arranged wrestling match.

To Tear Down Landmark.

Rome, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—The Buena Vista, an old landmark and probably the oldest building now standing in Rome, will probably be condemned and torn down in the near future. This building is located on the corner of Broad street and Sixth avenue and was formerly a hotel. The street committee reported to council last night that the walls of the building were unsafe and recommended that it be formally condemned and torn down. The building was erected about 1840 and is at present the property of Dr. D. G. Hunt.

Burglary Rates to Be Raised.

New York, February 24.—Burglary insurance companies throughout the United States have decided to substantially increase their rates because of the many recent burglaries. This was decided upon at a recent meeting in Philadelphia, although it did not become known until yesterday. The increases are to include the rates to bank s all over the country and all classes of burglary insurance in New York city.

Kaiser Wilhelm II Is Aground.

New York, February 24.—While trying to grope her way into New York harbor through a blinding fog today the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II, from Bremen, ran aground on the edge of Zedney channel and was stuck fast for several hours. Nearly 1,000 passengers were on board. The steamer was floated soon after noon and an attempt was made to take her though the channel where she might anchor in open water until the fog lifted.

TWO MEN DRUG A GIRL AND HOLD HER CAPTIVE

Story of Maltreatment Is Told by Miss McInrue, of Chicago.

Chicago, February 24.—That she was seized by two men Monday night, threatened with death, forced to swallow a drug and carried to a hotel near Lincoln park, where she remained unconscious for twenty hours, is an experience related to the police today by Miss Marie McInrue, 19 years old.

The story told by the girl resembles in its weird details the case of Ella Gingles, who was found bound to a bath tub in the Wellington hotel last week. Miss McInrue told Lieutenant Custy that she was about to be married and that jewelry given her by her fiance had been stolen by her assailants.

Miss McInrue says she was stopped by two men armed with revolvers while she was on her way to her home. They ordered her, she says, to make no outcry and then forced her to swallow poison. How she was taken to the hotel she does not recall.

SURGEONS USE KNIFE ON MRS. MAUDE BOOTH

Operation for Appendicitis Is Said to Have Been Successful.

New York, February 24.—Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth, wife of General Booth, of the Volunteers of America, underwent a surgical operation today for appendicitis. According to the surgeons the operation was entirely successful.

STABBED BY WOMAN.

Man Was Awaiting Trial for Seduction.

Hoxie, Ark., February 24.—A telephone message from Salem, Ark., states that while awaiting trial on a charge of seduction at the court house at that place yesterday J. W. Jones, a merchant of Mammoth Springs, was stabbed and fatally wounded by Miss Lizzie Kissee, the plaintiff in the case. Both were members of prominent families.

GIRL TOOK A HUSBAND IN ORDER TO GET HOUSE

Miss Mellet, by Wedding, Secured Order for $2,000 Concrete Home.

Chicago, February 24.—Mrs. Shelton Ogle, who was Miss Loretta Mellet, of Quincy, Ill., received the prize offered by exhibitors at the cement show to the young woman who would consent to be married in one of the booths. Miss Mellet is understood to have consented, but before the time for the ceremony which was to unite her with Shelton Ogle, also of Quincy, "eloped" with him to the Southside, where the knot was tied. When the couple returned to the show, and the bride blushingly confessed, those who made the offer decided that she had earned it and she received an order for $2,000 worth of material required for a reinforced concrete dwelling. Mr. and Mrs. Ogle have started for the west with the order carefully folded away.

TWO WOMEN SHOT DEAD FOR REFUSING TO DANCE

Desperadoes Attack a Band of Gypsies in Mexico.

Culiacan, Mexico, February 24.—Two women and three men were killed and another woman wounded in a battle between mountaineers and a band of gypsies on the road to Mazatlan. The mountaineers demanded that the gypsy women attend a dance, and when they refused, opened fire. Two of the women fell dead and another badly wounded. The mountaineers fled, but were pursued by the gypsy men, who succeeded in killing three of them.

HE KILLED TWO.

While Being Carried to Jail Shot Brother-in-Law.

Malvern, Ark., February 24.—While in custody of a constable, being conveyed to jail on a charge of having threatened to kill his wife, from whom he had separated, B. H. Hunnicutt fired on and killed his 14-year-old brother-in-law, John Hartsell, and wounded Mrs. Hunnicutt, near here, yesterday. Hunnicutt escaped.

STATE OF GEORGIA—COUNTY OF FULTON.

Personally appeared before the undersigned, H. C. BAGLEY, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is of the firm of BAGLEY & WILLET, General Agents of THE PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, and that the foregoing statement is correct and true. HENRY C. BAGLEY.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 23d day of February, 1909.
WM. J. FRANKLIN,
Notary Public, Fulton County, Georgia.

The Penn Mutual does not offer Special Board Contracts, by which one member is promised advantages not given to all Being a purely Mutual Company, it could not do so and be honest.

For five years the Penn Mutual has led all the old and standard Companies in Georgia in paid-for business, and now leads all Companies in volume of business in force in the State. This excellent result is because of the Company's untarnished record for sixty-two years, the excellence of its policy forms, its liberal dividends, and especially because of its conservative management, which believes, in exact and equal justice to all with special favors to none.

We invite correspondence with capable men of good character, who desire to engage in life insurance work. While previous experience in life insurance work is desirable, it is not essential. Liberal contracts for 1909 will be offered.

To people who intend buying insurance, we will be pleased to furnish full information and specimen policies, free from importunity, upon application to any of our Agents or direct to this office.

PURE FOOD SHOW HERE TWO WEEKS IN APRIL

Atlanta Butchers and Grocers Will Participate—Show in Steiner-Emery Building.

As the result of a movement set on foot yesterday, Atlanta is to have a pure food show, beginning April 5 and lasting through April 17. In this, many of the more important grocers and butchers in the city will participate. W. H. Dodd, who has recently conducted shows of this sort in Birmingham and Chattanooga, will be in charge.

The object of the show is to bring the buying public more closely in touch with the products which the Atlanta market has to offer. The exhibits will be on display on the second floor of the Steiner-Emery building. For the present, however, Mr. Dodd has his office at the headquarters of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' Association, room 28, Inman building.

At a conference yesterday between Mr. Dodd and the Retail Grocers and Butchers' Association, under the auspices of which the show will be held, the following committee was selected to cooperate with Mr. Dodd in arranging plans for the show: Messrs. T. I. McAndrews, chairman; C. A. Tappan, E. G. Akin, W. A. Byers, P. E. Bruce, J. G. Rainey, G. F. Kendrick, H. C. Reese, F. E. Kamper, P. H. Cherry and J. H. Bullock.

Confessed to Theft.

Winston-Salem, N. C., February 24.—Gaither C. Bodenhamer, who was arrested in Washington yesterday, charged with the theft of $2,000 from the Forsyth Bank and Trust Company, of Kernersville, today confessed to the crime and made a statement which led to the finding of the entire sum. The money was found buried in a glass jar under the porch of Bodenhamer's residence. Bodenhamer will be brought back home for trial.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS TO MEET IN MEMPHIS

Annual Meeting to Be Held in May—Atlanta Will Be Represented.

L. A. Ransom, of this city, a member of the executive committee of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, has returned from Memphis, Tenn., where that body met and named Memphis as the place for the annual meeting of the association, to be held this year on May 18, 19 and 20. In a few days now active preparations will be made by the Georgia members of this association, numbering in the neighborhood of 200 members, to go on to attend this annual meeting. It is expected that a special train will be made up to leave Atlanta for Memphis probably on May 16, at which time special cars will be attached from Augusta, Macon, Savannah and other Georgia cities.

Memphis was chosen by reason of the fact that it is the home of President H. J. Parrish, who is one of the most prominent workers in the industry.

It was upon the indorsement of this committee that Secretary of Commerce and Labor Oscar Straus appointed Julian Brode, of Memphis, as special agent for the department to go aboard for the purpose of investigating the market in Europe for cotton seed products. Already the European countries are using thousands of tons of cotton seed meal a year for feeding cattle, and many hundreds of pounds of cotton seed oil in making up their wonderful European butter.

The export trade of these commodities is turning a flood of gold into the south.

The exact plans of the Georgia members in regard to this trip will be announced later.

DR. STEWART R. ROBERTS EXAMINING PHYSICIAN

Recommended for Place at Inauguration of Physical Examination in Schools.

It is announced on good authority that the committee of three appointed by the board of education last month to plan for the inauguration of a system of physical examination of all the pupils of the public schools, with the sum of $3,000, donated for the purpose by council, will make a report to the board of education at the monthly meeting this afternoon, recommending Dr. Stewart R. Roberts as the examining physician and Miss Annie McDonald as the trained nurse, both of whom are to assume charge of the work.

DR. STEWART R. ROBERTS.
Recommended as Examining Physician of School Children.

The committee is composed of E. P. Burns, chairman; Steve R. Johnston and James R. Smith, and is the same that asked the board to make the request of council for the appropriation.

It is said that the board has received numerous letters recommending the appointment of Dr. Roberts to the responsible position of examiner, and it is believed that he will be given the place. Miss McDonald has also been highly recommended.

Within the next few weeks it is thought that the system will be in operation. Every school will be visited by the physician and nurse, and every pupil will be given a thorough examination from head to foot, and if a defect is found a prescription will be made out and a cure effected, if possible.

Dr. Roberts has had wide experience in medicine and its branches, and is peculiarly fitted for the place. He was graduated at Emory college, and several years ago was professor of biology of that institution.

Iowa Prohibition Fight.

Des Moines, Iowa, February 24.—What is regarded as the beginning of a fight for the adoption of a prohibition amendment in Iowa was formally launched in the lower house today. The prohibitory campaign is being fathered by the anti-saloon league and a committee from the ministerial association of the state.

GOVERNMENT OF CITY BY COMMISSIONERS

Will Be Considered by Subcommittee on Revision of City Charter.

The subcommittee of the charter revision committee, which was appointed to draft a report on the commission form of city government, will meet today at noon in the mayor's committee room.

Chairman F. A. Quillian says he has received four reports from cities which have the commission form of government, and they are from Houston, Texas; Fort Worth, Texas; Des Moines, Iowa, and Dallas, Texas.

The committee will hear the four reports read, and will decide upon what further work shall be done.

TWO TRIALS AT DEATH.

Winder Man Shot Himself and Later Cut His Throat.

Athens, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—J. H. Evans, of Winder, the man who recently brained his brother, J. G. Evans, after he had shot himself three times, this morning cut his throat with a razor. He will die from the wounds. Brooding over his trouble caused the act.

Taxicabs for Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., February 24.—(Special.) An automobile factory and a complete taxicab service are to be in operation in Savannah within twelve months, according to the statement of Captain M. Edward Wilson, who returned from the north today. Contracts aggregating $75,000 were made by him in the north for the taxies, and a company is in process of organization, with a proposed capital stock of $350,000 to build autos here.

ATTACK BY ENGINEERS ON LOCK TYPE CANAL

Report of Taft's Engineers Also Attacked at Institute of Mining Engineers.

New Haven, Conn., February 24.—Earnest advocates of the Gatun dam, to confine the waters of the Chagres river at Panama, were found among the members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers during their discussion of "the Panama canal" today, upon resuming the sessions of the ninety-sixth meeting.

The opposition to the lock type was led by Henry G. Granger, of Cartagena, Colombia, who made a sharp attack upon the report made a few days ago by the engineers who went to Panama with Judge Taft to look over the work. He summed up his attitude in these words:

"If the engineers had to go it is unfortunate that their nominator did not pass through the office of the Chicago drainage canal and go to the camps of contractors who had to use their brains to save money by new methods and devices. It is also to be regretted that engineers were chosen who had been found guilty of seeing a point and guaranteeing a germ of an idea which they had fostered into successful development."

Fire in Fire-Proof Building.

St. Louis, February 24.—Fire in a supposedly fire-proof, six-story structure at 112-114 North Twelfth street today caused a loss estimated at $100,000. The building was occupied by the Mulvihill Furniture Company. The fire, which originated on the fifth floor, is thought to have been caused by crossed electric wires. A general alarm brought out a large brigade of fire extinguishers, who worked for three hours.

EXPELLED HIS CHILDREN; SO HE SUES TRUSTEES

Anniston, Ala., February 24.—Because four of his children were expelled from a county school as a result of his refusal to pay a small incidental assessment, levied by the trustees, W. F. Bryant, of this county, has brought suit against the trustees for $20,000, or $5,000 for each child.

The father claims that the assessment is without warrant of law and is illegal. If it is a legal debt he says he is able and willing to pay it, but since the state of Alabama has furnished the school building and a teacher, the question is, have the trustees any right to deprive the children of a chance to obtain an education because the father fails to pay his debts?

The cases will be watched with interest, as it is reported that in many parts of the country children have been turned away from the public school because their parents failed or refused to pay an incidental fee. Such a fee, if legal at all, is the debt of the parent, it is said, and not the debt of the child, and it is claimed that it is unjust to deprive a child of the privilege of a free education in the public schools for no cause for which the child is responsible.

For Those Pains

"Cardui Did Wonders"

"I am getting along fine and feel splendid, since taking Cardui," writes Mrs. Stella Halquist, of Laporte, Minn. "I am not troubled, like I used to be, with backache, headache, and those pains and that tired-out feeling. I had other female troubles too, but they have almost disappeared now. I cannot praise Cardui enough, for it did wonders for me."

Cardui can be depended upon to help you, too, if you will give it a fair trial. Consisting only of pure, vegetable ingredients, it has nothing harmful in its composition, but acts gently, and in a natural way, upon the womanly organs, which it has been found, in thousands of cases, to restore to health, after other medicines had failed.

Women who need strength, should find it in Cardui, for Cardui is a strength-building female tonic.

Women who need health, should find it in Cardui, for Cardui has been found to cure female disorders, by its curative action on the female organs.

Pain, weakness and disease should all disappear, when you take Cardui persistently, until it has had a chance to thoroughly act upon your entire system.

MAYOR WILL DINE COUNCIL MEMBERS

Guests Will Be in Full Evening Dress.

Dinner at Mayor's Peachtree Residence Friday Evening. Mayor Believes in Cordial Relations Between Executive and Legislative Bodies.

Mayor Robert F. Maddox will entertain at a social dinner at his residence, 183 Peachtree street, tomorrow, Friday evening, the members of the general council.

The invitations were sent out yesterday to the following members of the city council and board of aldermen:

Mayor Pro Tem. Charles M. Roberts, Aldermen A. Lee Curtis, Press Huddleston, Frank A. Pittman, E. E. Pomeroy, H. M. Beutell, John W. Grant, William A. Hancock and John S. Candler and Councilmen A. J. Johnson, Frank A. Hilburn, Eugene Dodd, Hollis A. Boynton, J. C. Harrison, Charles L. Chosewood, B. Lee Smith, J. C. Vaughan, W. T. Winn, D. S. Walraven, Steve R. Johnston, Martin F. Amorous, F. J. Spratling, Craig Cofield, J. T. Wright, F. O. Foster, Aldine Chambers and E. A. Minor.

The guests will appear in full evening dress, and the dinner will be an elegant affair, such as those for which Mayor Maddox has long been noted as a host.

There will be no set speeches, but there will be some remarks which will probably bear upon city government affairs.

Cordial Relations Exist.

Since the inauguration of Mayor Maddox and the organization of the general council of 1909 the relations between the chief executive and the members of council have been most cordial.

The mayor has kept in close touch with council affairs, and this has brought him into personal contact with every member of the general council.

Believing that harmony between the executive and legislative branches of the city government would do a great deal towards furthering the interests of Atlanta, Mayor Maddox has exerted every energy to keep up the cordial relations which began when he took the reins of city government on the fourth day of last January.

The dinner Friday evening is one of the outcomes of the friendly relations between the mayor and the council members.

It will be the first time in the history of Atlanta that a mayor has so entertained the aldermen and councilmen, and the dinner, while being a most enjoyable social affair, will doubtless do much to make the present city administration the success that was phophesied for it, and which has already shown a pronounced beginning.

ROCKS IN THE WAY OF SCHWARZWEISS

Clay and Edwards Both Oppose Waynesboro Man

Senator Clay Will Not Allow Confirmation—More Cadetships for Georgians — Anti-Cotton Gambling Bills Up Today.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 24.—(Special.)—Representative Edwards has withdrawn his indorsement of S. Schwarzweiss as postmaster at Waynesboro, and it is practically certain that Senator Clay will not allow the nomination to be confirmed. It is the invariable rule of the Georgia senators to allow the representatives from each district to decide what shall be done with reference to the confirmation of postmasters. Of course, any action the democratic congressman may take is restricted by the xistence of the referee system. Formerly Mr. Edwards had indorsed Schwarzweiss, and Senator Clay had decided to let the appointment go through. In the case of the Waynesboro postmaster, Mr. Edwards states that he cannot conscientiously recommend that Schwarzweiss be confirmed in view of the evidence submitted as to his moral character.

In the case of W. C. Cole, at Lawrenceville, Mr. Bell is taking no part for or against Cole. He has filed with the senate postoffice committee the documents sent him from Lawrenceville bearing upon this case. The decision now rests with the committee.

More Cadetships for Georgians.

If a bill, which is to be urged for passage tomorrow, becomes a law, Georgia congressmen will have the right to designate young men to take the examination for the military academy at West Point every three years, instead of every four years. This will enable about sixteen young Georgians to be at the academy at the same time. The plan has been worked out by Captain Jackson Hagood, of the general staff. The change is made to do away with appointments to the army from civil life. The department prefers that army officers should have the benefit of the West Point training and discipline.

Anti-Gambling Bills Today.

Owing to the delay in the arrival of several officers of the Farmers' Union who had expected to appear before the agricultural committee of the house this morning, to urge a favorable report o fthe anti-cotton gambling bills, the hearing was postponed until tomorrow morning. Representative Henry, of Texas, made a brief statement in support of his bill.

LEE F. HANMER LECTURES AT CARNEGIE LIBRARY

The visit of Lee F. Hanmer, field secretary of the Playground Association of America, to the city today has enlisted the interest of the various groups of people in the city who are interested in playgrounds and parks. The members of the Barclay Memorial Association, which has proposed and is working for a park in honor of John F. Barclay, the Woman's Club and the Associated Charities are working together to make his visit a source of inspiration and information to the whole city on the question of playgrounds.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Carnegie library, Mr. Hanmer will show stereopticon pictures of playgrounds over the country which he has visited. What is being done for the pleasure of city populations on the playgrounds and the extent which cities have provided them who have not specially followed the subin late years will be a revelation to those ject. The lecture is free, and the public is invited.

FAMOUS "BLUE MOUSE" ONE EVERLASTING SMILE

The famous "Blue Mouse," which was presented last night for the first time in Atlanta before one of the largest and most appreciative audiences of the season, was one never-ending smile, which had perpetual motion beaten to a frazzle.

Like the waves of some storm-tossed ocean chasing each other in what seemed to be endless numbers, or like the uncountable stars of the heaven, so were the smiles and the laughter evoked by that naughty little rodent, which has made a nation young again.

Fast and furious was the fun from the lift of the curton on the first act in the lift of the curtain on the first act in the reception room in the home of Augustus Rollett, whose ambitions had caused a remarkable series of complications, each teeming with convulsions of mirth.

The merriment, coming in gusts and gales, was infectious, and soon the gloomiest face relaxed into good humor, and the entire house, pit, gallery, balcony and boxes, had caught the contagion of the moment, and were showing keenest appreciation of the bright lines, brilliant satire, and perfection of acting.

There were some partially disappointed ones, of course, in that they felt they were not receiving the full measure for which they hoped. They had come with the anticipation of reveling in the salacious. It wasn't there. "The Blue Mouse" proved about the fastest and richest fun ever shown in Atlanta, but the man or woman who seriously found fault with it was born with a "mean disposition." To complain of the morals of the play is to acknowledge a defect in one's self. The prurient will find something to cavil at, but the man or woman who deliberately sets out to find faults or make trouble, can generally do so, with very little real cause, or on the slightest provocation.

"The Blue Mouse" is not for children, but the mature mind will find nothing offensive, will only see the delightful features, the exquisite good taste, and the indescribable charm of Millicent Evans, who plays the role.

For the sum of $2,000 a month Augustus Rollett hired Paulette Devine, a Salome dancer, known as "The Blue Mouse," to personate his wife, and wheedle a promotion to the position of district superintendent for him from the president of the road. She accomplished her purpose by reckless flirting with President Lewellyn, who liked a pretty face, but disliked taking the risk of breach of promise suits, law suits of any kind, publicity or the like, and also hated to spend any more money than necessary.

Complications arose from the entrance of Mrs. Lewellyn, the real Mrs. Rollett; Mr. Wallus, Rollett's father-in-law, and Philip Scarsdale, the man the "Blue Mouse" loved.

As the "Blue Mouse," the woman with a temperament, the little girl who wanted to be petted and loved as much that she was willing to take a chance with almost any man, provided he was young and handsome, and knew how to spend money, Miss Millicent Evans deserved as much applause for her acting as she received compliments for her looks.

When a woman acts up to her looks, and that woman is Miss Evans, she has reached the top of the ladder. Her protrayal of the character of the "Blue Mouse" was so charming a bit of work, so exquisitely done, that the audience forgave her indiscriminate flirting, and did not marvel at the ease with which she conquered every man with whom she came into contact, and had her way at all times. Her acting showed a vast improvement over her summer stock company days, and indicated that she had found her place among the stars.

She was assisted by a most capable company, every member being a star, even the tiniest roles being ably presented. Inda Palmer was inimitable as the wife of the president; Geoffrey Stein was all that could be demanded as the president's secretary, and Wilton Taylor, as President Lewellyn, was the king laughmaker of the evening. The character of the auctioneer was also splendidly handled.

The only objectionable feature of the evening was not due to any of the happenings on the stage, but to the disturbance created by the occupants of the gallery, who made the intermissions times of extreme noise.

Comments of prominent citizens after the play proved that it had "come, been seen and had conquered." Hundreds expressed themselves as "delighted," others said the play was "bully," and all agreed there was nothing objectionable in the lines or in the acting.

As one man expressed it, a man who has served the state well in the house of representatives, and for whom other honors are in prospect: "I only wish that every play that came to Atlanta was as well worth seeing, as deserving of the price of admission. I was charmed with the performance, and found not one objectionable feature."

After the performance Mayor Maddox stated that he would take no action in the matter.

All in all, it was the most enjoyable play produced in Atlanta this year, and instead of barring it from the Grand, the management should insist upon a longer stay. It will be seen at matinee and night performances today. The advance sale has been wonderful, due, in part, to the excellent press agent work of a number of people, and so those who would have choice seats will have to rush to the Grand at an early hour this morning.

At the Orpheum.

Owing to Mr. Wilder's inability to speak French he opened with his budget of pantomime stories when he visited Sarah Bernhardt, the great actress. He gave his telephone imitations and Sarah expressed great delight. Then he gave the story of the man who received a letter from his absent wife under the impression that it was a request for more money, but which concluded with the announcement of the serious illness of her mother—his dreaded mother-in-law. This story is told without words. The facial changes of Mr. Wilder were watched with interest by the great actress. When the smile began to break over the little man's dark countenance, like sunshine from behind a sullen cloud, as he gradually took in the situation of the mother-in-law, Sarah laughed as though she would break her stays. Next Mr. Wilder gave his imitations of snoring in a sleeping car. It required no knowledge of English to appreciate this performance. Sarah fairly howled with delight. "Zat is ver fun-nee," she ejaculated. Then Mr. Wilder took from his pocket a curiously cut bit of paper and folded it into scores of familiar objects—first a bouquet, then a hat, then a star, then a bird, and finally managed to get out a very fair profile of Mme. Bernhardt herself. Mr. Wilder is drawing tremendous crowds to the Orpheum this week, he being the headline attraction of the big vaudeville show.

At the Lyric.

Commencing with matinee this afternoon, at the Lyric, Miss Cecil Spooner will offer "The Girl Raffles" for the very first time in Atlanta. This bill will run for the rest of the week, with another matinee on Saturday, and will be the farewell appearance of the dainty star and her very clever company.

"The Girl Raffles" is a story that is crowded with interest, and that has attracted great gatherings in all of the principal cities. It is from the pen of Charles E. Blaney, and is considered to be his masterpiece. Mr. Blaney has mounted the show in a most finished production. Every detail of scenic construction has had his personal touch, and effects and mechanical arrangements have been added that make the offering one of the best of the Blaney mark. And it was with this play that Miss Spooner got her New York reputation, in a Blaney theater on Broadway. It was written for the dainty star. She has taken the lines given her by the author and has added her own ideas, together with her wonderful personality, and has scored the real great big hit of her career.

At the Bijou.

Robie's Knickerbockers at the Bijou continue to draw those who care for extravaganza. The show is a live wire, without a shock. The show is a merry and clean musical offering and there is enough farce to hold interest from the start until the finish.

The vaudeville features to the show are good. Better than the average by a whole lot. The California Trio attracts a lot of attention and would be a mighty strong headliner for any old vaudeville theater. The violinist can show his brothers a series of stunts that would put them back to school, while there is a dainty little miss who can make real music with a cornet.

The show is pleasing and real. There is nothing objectionable. The chorus is attractive and the costuming proper.

"Fifty Miles From Boston."

"Fifty Miles from Boston" will be the attraction at the Grand next Monday and Tuesday, with Miss Edna Wallace Hopper at the head of the original all-star cast in the magnificent production, which is said to cost $6,000 weekly to run. This is claimed by the management to be the most expensive musical production in the country, outside of grand opera, and to contain more high-salaried artists. The cast certainly reads like an "all-star" one, for it includes Joseph M. Sparks, Susanne Leonard Westford, sister of Miss Lillian Russell; W. Douglas Stevenson, Thomas Emory, Charles Willard, Walter P. Richardson, Russell Pincus, Alf Helton, Percy Helton, Ella Sothern, Mae Helton, Kathryn R. Perry, Lester Templeton and Stanley G. Fields.

"In Panama."

Max Rogers, the "little fellow," of the Rogers Brothers, supported by Joe Kane, late star of "The Belle of New York" and other New York Casino successes, who plays the opposite role, and the original New York company, in his latest musical play, "In Panama," will be the attraction at the Grand Friday night and Saturday matinee and night.

Few musical attractions in recent years have made a better impression upon theater-gores' than Max Rogers' "In Panama." If an attraction can remain in any one city any particular length of time it must be reasoned that it is the sort of attraction that theatergoers approve. This can be said in favor of "In Panama," which has a record of 200 nights at the Broadway theater, New York.

Savannah, Ga., February 24.—(Special.) The decision of the board of directors of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce to create a new office for "outside work," with a salary of $3,000, for J. A. Betjeman, who is well known for his immigration work, has almost caused a split in the organization.

San Juan, P. R., February 24.—A resolution was introduced in the house of delegates today urging President Roosevelt immediately to remove Judge B. S. Rodey, of the United States district court. The resolution is based on declarations made at a legislative hearing on charges brought against Judge Rodey of incapacity and ignorance of the old system of law by American and Porto Rican attorneys.

Judge Rodey has taken action in the matter himself, and has issued an order against those who have attacked him to show cause why they are not guilty of contempt.

BUSINESS MEN INSPECT BIG DAM

At the Central Georgia Power Plant.

Over 200 Came Down From New York to View Work Now on at Lloyd Shoals. W. J. Massee Gave a Big Barbecue.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—Two hundred or more of the leading business men of Macon, with the capitalists accompanying A. B. Leach, from New York, and other eastern cities, viewed the constructive work on the large power plant of the Central Power Company, at Lloyd Shoals, today, and enjoyed an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue, the spread of President W. J. Massee and the officers of the company. The entire day was spent in taking in the work of the contractors, Lane Brothers, who are now laying the foundation for the big dam in concrete, reinforced, and masonry of a very fine character.

The dam, at completion, will be more than 1,400 feet long, and in the bed of the river will stand 100 feet high. The horse power accomplished in the big plant's construction will be 18,000. This undertaking represents the investment of $2,500,000, and will mean the giving to the central portion of the state a vast amount of energy that will be utilized in many towns and both Macon and Atlanta.

After a full view of the work about the big dam site was had, the visitors accompanied President Massee across the river and took in the barbecue and the splendid refreshments. While the larger number of business men were engaged thus, they spent much of their time in surveying the great undertaking. Few people who have not seen the work there have any idea of the gigantic enterprise that is going up.

A special train brought the party to Macon in time for the banquet of the chamber of commerce this afternoon.

At the Banquet.

Around the banquet board business men of Macon tonight talked of industrial possibilities of central Georgia with a broader and more hopeful outlook than has crept into the minds of the most sanguine promoters in a score of years. W. W. Finley, president of the Southern railway, was the central character among the speakers. He talked of the railroad and its direct influence in the development of the country. He was largely concerned with conditions in Georgia.

Richard H. Edmunds, editor of The Manufacturers' Record, was enthusiastic and came all the way to Macon to fall in with a crowd interested in big enterprises in Georgia.

A. B. Leach, of New York, the man who placed the first of the two and a half millions in the Central Georgia Power Company bonds, accompanied by forty wealthy men, came to show interest and strong faith. Mr. Leach spoke of the development of Macon as it must follow the harnessing of Ocmulgee river.

James I. Buchanan, president of the Pittsburg Trust Company, took, step by step, the results of the application of labor, brain and capital, and the meaning it will have in the central portion of the state. He pledged faith with the men who are behind the greater enterprises of Macon and community. Walter T. Hanson, of Macon, talked of the manufacturing interests with a fine appreciation of the hustle and energy in the successes that are already numerous. No more loyal utterance could have been given than that of Emory Winship in his theme, "Greater Macon."

W. E. Small, former president of the chamber of commerce, acted as toastmaster. President J. F. Heard, of the chamber of commerce, delivered a brief, but hearty, welcome, and was followed by T. D. Tinsley, who spoke for Mayor Miller, welcoming the guests for the mayor and council.

Annual Banquet.

This was the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce. There were more than 250 persons present, and an unusually large number of wealthy business men.

The coming of President Finley and his utterances tonight will be taken to mean that business relations are to be very cordial in the future and a new union passenger station, with all roads under one shed, will be looked for as soon as railway officials have time to work out the plans.

MAD DOG RAN AMUCK.

Hon. Wright Willingham Barely Escaped Being Bit.

Rome, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—Before he met death at the hands of Lindale citizens, a powerful mad dog ran amuck on the Summerville road, nearly bit Wright Willingham on the left arm, and fastened his teeth in several dogs that were afterwards killed. One of these was a fine bird dog that belonged to Judge Moses Wright, and valued at $75.

The big bulldog was a fine watch dog, and of fierce disposition. When he approached Hon. Wright Willingham that gentleman fortunately had on an overcoat. He held on to his arm, and had to be severely beaten before he would turn loose. His teeth penetrated several thicknesses of clothing but failed to touch the skin. Although Mr. Willingham has a sore on his arm, caused by the pressure of the dog's teeth on his arm, physicians who have examined Mr. Willingham state that there is no danger from the bite of the dog.

Fleets to the fleet is the greater navy idea.

Is the Jeff Davis hurricane responsible for the blow Arkansas gave the trusts?

It is a congress of economy, and of course, the secret service comes too high.

George Washington took his toddy, and wasn't particular about a cherry accompaniment.

A cherry trust in George Washington's day would have made that tree story impossible.

Still, a Marathon dance will be both a beneficial and dignified proceeding for a fat president.

However, when Taft gets in late from the lodge meeting, he can plead "official business."

Come to think of it, what a long meal Mr. Fairbanks would make for an African cannibal.

NATIONAL DEFENSE AGAINST IGNORANCE.

While we are spending millions upon millions for preparedness against invasion that is more or less chimerical, there continues an almost criminal neglect of the national defense against ignorance.

Yet the country life commission, appointed by President Roosevelt, following inquiry and investigation which included every section of the United States, was, according to its report, impressed by no other fact so much as the need for extended educational facilities and the fostering support of them by the federal government.

Nothing in years, as much as this commission's report, has so stressed the fact that there exists a feeling among the vast interior population of the United States that they are entitled to other and more substantial recognition at the hands of the general government than the expenditure of ever-increasing millions upon large world-girdling armadas and armies to maintain a show of position and title of doubtful value to possessions which will be the source for years to come of drains upon the public treasury.

The commission's report, it is true, draws no such comparison, but the inference is there and unmistakable.

It is a national feeling now emerging from a state of dormancy, and its development as a force of irresistible proportions is a question of the not far distant future.

Public education and public road development are subjects which are assuming more and more a great national aspect. There are possibilities of public advantage in them which it is impossible to see in navies that cost $135,000,000 in years of profoundest peace.

"The consideration of the educational problem," the commission does not hesitate to say, "raises the greatest single question that has come before the commission, and which the commission has to place before the American people," a sentiment to which The Constitution has time and again given voice in urging the duty of federal support.

National sentiment upon the subject is undoubted. Of this the commission says:

"We find a general demand for federal encouragement in educational propaganda, to be in some way cooperative with the states. The people realize that the incubus of ignorance and inertia is so heavy and so widespread as to constitute a national danger, and that it should be removed as rapidly as possible. It will be increasingly necessary for the national and state governments to cooperate to bring about the results that are needed in agricultural and other industrial education."

As to the direction which federal support should take, the commission stresses, first, extension work in connection with the various state schools and colleges, "Without which," it says, "no college of agriculture can adequately serve its state. It is to the extension department of these colleges, if properly conducted, that we must now look for the most effective rousing of the people of the land."

Following this it urges and recommends "that the United States bureau of education be enlarged and supported in such a way that it will really represent the educational activities of the nation, becoming a clearing house and a collecting, distributing and investigating organization. It is now wholly inadequate to accomplish these ends."

The commission might have gone further than this. It might well have recommended federal recognition and support of education in its common school phases and its elemental efforts wherein the foundations of good citizenship are laid.

But the commission has furnished an admirable basis for the beginning of federal activity in a direction wherein expansion will follow almost automatically or at least in response to a developed public sentiment that will exact national justice to this end.

Public ignorance is an admitted national weakness. How better, then, can a nation strengthen itself internally, hence internationally, than by directing its energies to the removal of this barrier to progress?

Education contributes not alone to moral and mental, but to physical strength; therein it is an element, and an important one, of the national defense.

We have never urged nor counseled abandonment of the means of physical defense against possible invasion or attack, but condemned only the wanton extravagance lavished upon them. There is deep and abiding truth in the poet's stanza—

> Were half the wealth bestowed on pomp and power,
> Were half the luxury of camps and courts
> Given to redeem the human mind from error,
> There were no need of arsenals and forts,— though conservatism realizes that all great world nations must subscribe to it in advance of the abandonment of army and navy programs.

But by position, through natural defenses, untold resources and force of national character, the United States can well afford to blaze the trail.

What we should do is to put less into more numerous and powerful warships and more into the cultivation and development of the national mind.

But it will be impossible to do this as long as we create treasury deficits by $135,000,000 naval appropriations.

It will be impossible as long as we continue to neglect the battles of peace because of the fancied war of a tomorrow that may never come.

More soldiers and more cash are needed for the conduct of the campaign against ignorance.

There is no question as to the national duty; there is no escape from the national responsibility.

THE CONQUEST OF PROBATION.

"A humane officer is all right, but women and helpless children are of more consequence than cows and horses."

It was with the foregoing unchallengeable reasoning that Alderman Press Huddleston hailed the failure of the fight to put a period to probation for inebriety in this city.

He has stated the last argument in this case. We could add little or nothing to his logic.

It is possible, however, to testify that probation for inebriety, critics and skeptics to the contrary notwithstanding, has been and is effectual in Atlanta.

Since it is founded on the inviolable premise that reclaimed men and women are more valuable and productive members of society than multiplying jailbirds, there is little danger of further attempts to overturn a work barely in its incipiency.

It is all very well to add men to the police force to detect chicken thieves, vagrants and crap-shooters.

How much more essential is it that an office which may assure the rehabilitation of but one human being annually shall not be abandoned?

A MONUMENT TO COL. PRICE.

Insight and appreciation distinguish the movement to erect a monument to Colonel William P. Price, for thirty-six years director of the North Georgia Agricultural college at Dahlonega.

The education, the salvation and the spiritual and material welfare of unnumbered mountain boys and girls are traceable to his intelligent and kindly initiative.

Would it not, however, be more in accord with his utilitarian and service-loving spirit to commemorate him not with a stately shaft, but with a memorial building which should aid in still further advancing the splendid work to which he consecrated his life?

FAR-REACHING EFFECT OF A PLAY.

While Guy DuMaurier's play, "An Englishman's Home," which is now attracting the attention of the international press, was unquestionably written with a purpose, it is doubtful if the author or those interested with him foresaw the far-reaching effect that it was destined to have.

Coming at a time when Lord Roberts and others were publicly agitating the alleged interior defenselessness of England, and designed to arouse public sentiment in that direction by portraying the dire possibilities of a foreign invasion of the British Isles, it has wrought the English people to a state of patriotic frenzy and military ardor seemingly impossible in a time of quietude and peace.

It has made even conservative Englishmen believe it possible for an invading army to cross the channel and burn London before its march could be seriously opposed.

It has sounded a ringing call to arms and brought response in recruits and cash—one Englishman contributed $50,000 personally to the national defense—at a time when seemingly there is nothing but windmills to fight.

But the effect of this stage production, this creation of an artistic Englishman's fancy, this play of "ifs," has not stopped and will not stop there. It is destined to be international.

The spirit which it has aroused will sanction army and navy budgets at home in magnitude beyond the wildest dreams of a short decade ago.

Already it has stimulated army recruiting and battleship building in the nation most noted for the extent of its warlike preparations in time of peace.

And the reaction is bound soon to come. Other nations of the first class must keep pace, in a degree, with England's army and navy building.

What this or that country is doing or has done in the maintenance of vast armies and powerful navies—chiefly what England does in this direction—is the forceful argument brought to bear in support of army and navy expenditures in other states and nations.

Verily, "An Englishman's Home," this more or less fantastic product of the playhouse, will have cost the world a pretty penny before time abates its influence and it joins the library of the forgotten.

THE HALF-HEATHEN AT OUR GATES.

Dr. John E. White gave expression to a sentiment recently that has often been emphasized by The Constitution, viz:

THAT THE CHRISTIANS OF GEORGIA ARE MORE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SPIRITUAL WELFARE OF THE NEGROES IN THIS STATE THAN THEY ARE OF CHINAMEN ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE GLOBE.

The practical expediency of foreign missions, as well as innumerable scriptural warrants, support their wisdom.

But what about the half-heathen at our gates, the negro whom our ancestors were instrumental in bringing from the jungle and placing in involuntary servitude?

His irreligion and his lack of morality is as a two-edged sword; it hamstrngs his own efficiency and it cuts away at the safety, happiness and progress of the white man.

We are too apt to be charmed by distance, to be lured by the sublime spectacle of bringing under the dominion of the Nazarene those who bow down to wood and stone.

Christ Himself said: "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold." Strip the negro of his emotionalism and his hysterical "revivals," and if he does not answer that description, we will acknowledge our entire ignorance of the subject.

Moreover, if the Chinaman makes obeisance to things of wood and stone, the negro is bound to idols that are far worse and more demoralizing. And it doesn't require steamer fare to get them to him!

What about the half-heathen at our gates?

The Fellow of the Fish Tale.

(Dedicated to Dr. F. W. McRae.)

There wasn't a man could match him—
The fisherman so bold,
He made the fish take water
By the stories that he told.

For they'd listened to his stories
Too long to count 'em fun;
The sight of him a-comin'
Made the lazy river run!

To hear him stretch a fish tale
Astonished every place;
The angry water lilies
Got crimson in the face!

An' so, at last, the catfish,
They had him on the rub,
Elected him a member
Of the Homosassa Club!

"I'm sorry that I sold my mint bed," said the old colonel, "for only yesterday I discovered a barrel I had buried long ago. But I'm glad it's going by;
I want to be 'way yonder

There, where the Georgy melon
With the glad stripes greets the eye,
In the joyous, juicy middle Of July—of July!

Though winter's necessary,
With a blowy, snowy sky,
Life's thrillin'—fine an' fillin'
In July—in July!

Where He's Wanting to Be.

I.

I'm wanting to be
In the land where the dreams are the truest to me,
Where they'll give me the gold of the wonderful gleam,
In a land, trouble-free—
That is the place I'm a-wanting to be!

II.

I'm wanting to be
Where the ships furl their sails after storms o' the sea;
Where they dream not of dangers of tempest and foam,
And the sailors are singing the sweet songs of "Home!"
Where Life's harbor I see—
That is the place I'm a-wanting to be!

The Morals in the Story.

"He went to the store and bought a rope, a can of coal oil, a box of matches, a dose of arsenic, and a revolver. He went down to the river and pushed the boat from the shore and waded to where a limb hung over; saturated his clothing with the coal oil, lighted a match and set fire to his clothing, took the dose of arsenic, put the muzzle of the revolver to his temple, pushed the boat from under him and pulled the trigger. But the bullet glanced and cut the rope above him and he fell kerflop into the river; the water put the fire out and he got strangled and coughed up the arsenic. He rose and waded out and declared himself a candidate for the legislature on the reform ticket."

$9,000 FOR AN EYE.

Cosby Sued the Central of Georgia for Damages.

Jonesboro, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—Clayton superior court, with Judge Roan presiding, has been engaged for the past two days upon the trial of the case of W. R. Cosby against the Central of Georgia Railway Company.

Cosby was a fireman in the company's employment and on December 30, 1907, his left eye was destroyed by the explosion of a water glass upon the engine with which he was working. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $9,000.

Cosby was represented by Reuben R. Arnold, of Atlanta, while the railway company was represented by Judge Loyd Cleaveland, of Griffin, and Ellsworth Hall, of Macon.

Roosevelt to Speak in Paris.

Paris, February 24.—The University of Paris announced officially today that Theodore Roosevelt had accepted an invitation to deliver an address here in 1910.

STOPS HER OWN FUNERAL; A WEIRD DARKTOWN STORY

The mother was weeping over the body of her dead daughter. She had paid the undertaker to embalm the body; she had bought the burial robe; she had selected the coffin, and she had also made all the arrangements for the funeral. Dressed in the sable garments of mourning, she was wailing and weeping for her daughter that was gone, when suddenly that daughter entered the room and exclaimed:

This uncanny scene occurred Tuesday afternoon at No. 3 Gemundie street.

When the dead body of the negro woman that was found near Ponce de Leon park was taken to the undertaker establishment of Cox Brothers it was identified as that of Florence Baker, a young negro woman who lived at No. 3 Gemundie street. The mother of Florence Baker was positive that the dead woman was her daughter. So positive was she that she paid the undertaker to prepare the body for burial and the funeral would have gone on yesterday afternoon and Florence Baker would have been consigned to her grave had she not appeared on the scene alive and well.

Saved Herself From Burial.

Florence Baker had gone on a trip to Jackson, Ga., and returned home unexpectedly Tuesday afternoon in time to save herself from being buried.

It is said there was great consternation at No. 3 Gemundie street when the mother discovered that all the money she had expended on the corpse and all the tears she had shed were utterly useless and uncalled for.

The funeral of Florence Baker has been called off.

It is now believed the dead woman is Marie Gilliard.

A nice question in funeral ethics is said to have arisen. Shall the undertaker refund to the mother of Florence Baker the misspent funeral money? The undertaker thinks not. Florence Baker's mother thinks yes.

Home in a State of Collapse.

It is said that Florence Baker's home has been thrown into a state bordering on collapse, for a swell funeral had been secured and mourning garments been secured. All the kinfolks and friends of Florence Baker had gotten ready to do the mourners' act. And then to throw aside the mourning garments, to notify all the kinsmen and friends that the funeral was declared off, and to be out a lot of money expended for a funeral that didn't take place, is said to be enough to distract any Darktown family.

Florence Baker, however, is glad that her funeral did not take place, and so is her ma, despite the unnecessary expense and the useless tears and wasted grief.

'TIS SAD, BUT ALL MUST PAY EXPRESS CHARGES

The decision of Justice Day, in which the supreme court of the United States held that express companies cannot legally grant free transportation of property for employees, has caused considerable consternation among the said employees who have been receiving and sending packages by express free of cost.

The law regarding railroad passes explicitly states that railroad employees can ride free; but the Elkins law, regarding express companies, makes no such exception.

And that is where the trouble comes in. Since the Elkins law went into effect employees of express companies, including lawyers, officials and clerks, have been having a picnic, when it came to getting express packages sent through on franks, though outsiders who formerly held franks were denied the privileges.

But the opinion of Justice Day has shed new light on the situation—it might be called Day-light if one should wish to become facetious about a matter that is so terribly serious to those who have been using express franks, and who will now have to "cough up" the coin like any other citizen.

Not being able any longer to get packages free, an express company employee in Atlanta said yesterday that he would like to "express" his thoughts on the matter, as that was about all he could now express free of cost.

"I don't know why these high-muck-a-muck court officials want to be always stirring up trouble," he said. "There wasn't very much franking done, anyway, by us fellows, but what little we did do came in mighty handy. I do not know who this Elkins fellow is, but I suppose he is another one of the anti-corporation demagogues, who wanted to get a little cheap notoriety and make us poor fellows pay for it. It won't hurt me much, but I feel real sorry for some of the boys who used to get a quart thrown in extra from Chattanooga, because there were no express charges to pay."

It is said that some of the high-up officials are feeling awfully sore over Justice Day's decision. Of course, the higher up a person is on a corporation ladder, the more he gets of anything that is handed around free. But they all have got to "come across" and pay full rates upon all express packages. Chattanooga's "glass, this side up with care," not excepted.

"IF BROWN RUNS I WILL," SAID SMITH

But Valdosta Times Doesn't Believe He Said It.

(From The Valdosta Times.)

The Quitman Advertiser, whose editor recently received an appointment under Governor Smith, and who is in the confidence of the governor, had the following to say in regard to the next campaign, quoting the governor, "as well as he can recollect."

"On January 28, while the editor was in Atlanta he called by appointment on Governor Smith. After the position of examiner on the state board of medical examiners was offered and accepted, we turned the conversation to coming events in state politics, and asked the governor what he proposed to do in the next democratic nomination. He replied, as well as we can recollect, in about the following words:

"'I do not now, and never did, desire the office of governor. It is not congenial to my taste. I have filled the office with zeal and faithfulness, as the records will abundantly show. I do not wish to run for the office of governor again. However, when I was a boy and had a fight with another fellow and whipped him, I immediately made friends with him, but when the other boy got the best of the tilt I put down a stake and would try issues with him again. If "Little Joe" Brown is not a candidate for relection I will not be in the race; but if he does run, then I am in the race against him.'

"This, then, seems to be the final word. The way will be plain, so far as Governor Smith is concerned, as compared with the race that he had to make in 1908. The elements that backed Governor-elect Joe Brown are non-cohesive, and as antagonistic as it is possible for forces to be. The new registration law, too, will make for the election of Governor Smith if he should determine to run."

This is rather an illuminating proposition throughout—so much so that we doubt that the governor authorized the quotation ascribed to him. It merely means that the governor does not want the office; that "it is not congenial to his taste;" "he does not wish to run," but his boyish pride has been given such a terrific blow that he is going to try it again. He is going to involve the state in another campaign "if Joe Brown runs again," regardless of conditions at that time—regardless of what sort of governor Joe Brown makes. Here is a confession of spite, bitterness and disappointment that could hardly be believed if it had not come direct from a member of the official household.

"The new registration law, too, will make for the electio.. of Governor Smith if he should determine to run." That was the object of the law, it is true, but we doubt if it will have that effect. The wisest tricks of mice and men often go wrong. It was thought last year in the inner sanctum that things were so well fixed that it was a "joke" to think of dislodging them, but we know what happened.

Governor Smith's activity in tieing on to everything that comes along, in contributing to libraries, etc., is interpreted by those who know him to mean that he expects to be a power in politics two years hence, but we are willing to wager a ginger cake against a nickel that the "exigencies of the occasion" will lead him in some other direction than in the race for governor. He is man enough, now, in years, to put away the habits of his boyhood, in politics, as well as in fisticuffs.

"Little Joe" Brown will succeed himself if he wishes to—and a man of his way of thinking will succeed him if he decides to turn over the reins of office to his successor. It will be a long time before the Hoke Smith propaganda will be fashionable in Georgia again. The people will have to forget. "Burnt children dread fires."

WITH THE STATE PRESS.

"All Not Yet Lost."

(Tom Watson in Jeffersonian.)

The trouble with Hoke was he got tired too quick. His breath gave out, or something. So far as we could see, he made no further progress as a reformer after the legislature adjourned. He refused to call an extra session, rested quietly on the gubernatorial oars, and began to cast cat's eyes at Steve Clay's senatorial canary.

To smooth the course for his senatorial race, Hoke publicly relieved from censure the legislature which had killed the reforms bills; went over to the early, snap primary tricksters; formulated new rules which would have put the country counties under the feet of city ward heelers, and mussed things up on the liquor question until nobody knew what he did mean. Besides, he made all the confederate soldiers mad on the pension matter.

Consequently it became a patriotic duty to soak Hoke. It was a good lesson to him and to others. Hereafter no candidate for office will risk his scalp by breaking his pledges and going back on those who elected him.

It appears that no freight rate has been reduced and that all freight rates have been advanced. This is sad.

Passenger rates are where Joe Terrell left them. This also is depressing.

Besides, we did not get that anti-lobby bill. This is saddest of all. The Jeffersonian did hope that every lobbyist would be required to take out a license, dress in sky-blue clothes and wear a cowbell. But we didn't get what we expected. It is often so.

Then, again, Hoke has allowed them to change the school books on us, and his railroad commission chairman is out in a card telling us that unconstitutional railway mergers are right good things, after all.

So we hardly know where we are at, or what we are coming to. Still, since that south Georgia woman voluntarily kissed Joe Brown, we have hopes that all is not lost.

Takes Issue With Rev. Mr. Ledbetter.

(From The Cordele Rambler.)

If Mr. Ledbetter said that "a man who will manufacture domestic wine will run a blind tiger," we do not believe that he made an honest statement; we believe that he said what he knew was not true.

Previous to a year ago when the law was made prohibiting the manufacture of domestic wine, any number of the best people of this good old state of Georgia made their own domestic wine.

There were very few thrifty country land-owners who did not make blackberry wine which has been used for sickness in this state as far back as any living person can remember.

There are overzealous prohibitionists who oppose wine, and place it in a class with whisky and other intoxicants, but we do not believe that there is a man in the state of average sense who believes that the good men and women who manufactured domestic wine were no better than a blind tiger operator.

If he made the remark credited to him, he has slandered a number of good people in the state.

The Next Campaign.

(From The Hawkinsville Dispatch and News.)

It is doubtful if any one at this time, not even Mr. Brown himself, knows whether he will be a candidate to succeed himself or not. Mr. Brown has said nothing to indicate his purpose with regard to a second term, and if any newspaper has expressed an opinion on the subject it has escaped our observation. It is quite likely, however, if Mr. Brown's administration gives general satisfaction, that he will stand for reelection, and if he does it is also quite likely that he will be elected, as it is customary to give the governor a second term under such conditions, if he wants it.

FIGHT TO BE MADE FOR SHIP SUBSIDY

Effort Will Be Made to Get Bill Through.

House Committee Will Favorably Report Measure Today and Ask for Special Rule for Its Passage.

Washington, February 24.—Interest in the debate on the salary increases on the floor of the house twice today interfered with the meeting of the house committee on postoffices and postroads, to consider the senate ocean mail subsidy bill. A meeting will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow, and it is believed that the bill will then be reported out. The members are said to stand 10 to 8 for a favorable report.

It is planned to bring in a special rule for the passage of the bill, if it is favorably reported.

The bill authorizes the postmaster general to pay for ocean mail service, on vessels of the second class, under the classification of the act of March 3, 1891, at the rate paid first class vessels, on routes to South America, to the Philippines, to Japan, to China, and to Australasia. The service on vessels of the third class may be paid at the rate paid on second class vessels.

A clause is contained in the bill providing that if no contract is made on a line of ships between Atlantic coast ports south of Cape Charles and South American ports, and two lines are established to North Atlantic ports, one at least shall touch at two ports on the Atlantic coast, south of Cape Charles.

Another provision is that the total expenditures for foreign mail services in any one year shall not exceed the estimated revenues therefrom.

CADETS PARADED STREETS, THE DRUM CORPS LEADING

Was to Give Public an Idea of Atlanta's Representatives at Inauguration.

Cadets of the Georgia Military academy and Donald Fraser, together with the drum and bugle corps of the Atlanta fire department, paraded the streets in the business section of the city yesterday afternoon, while hundreds of citizens lined the thoroughfares, anxious to see the boys who are to represent Atlanta at President-elect Taft's inauguration next week. Because of the inability of the militiamen to leave their places of business, the companies of the Fifth, which will go to Washington, were not in the parade.

The parade formed at Alabama and Forsyth streets, with the fire department drum corps in the lead. The Georgia Military academy battalion, with 125 cadets in line, were next, while the Donald Fraser battalion followed. The line of march was to Broad, to Peachtree, to Cain, thence back along Peachtree to Whitehall, to Mitchell, to South Pryor, to Decatur, to Marietta, to South Forsyth, to Alabama, where it disbanded. Colonel J. C. Woodward was in command of the Georgia Military academy battalion, while Major Fay headed the Donald Fraser cadets.

The object of the parade was to give the Atlanta public an idea of the showing the city's representatives will make in the inaugural parade. And of the hundreds heard to express themselves, not one was found who was not highly pleased with the showing made. The universal opinion seemed to be that Atlantans may well feel proud of their representatives. It was at first planned to have the parade pass in review, but on account of the absence of several of those who were expected to review the procession, this feature was called off.

SENIOR CLASS DONATES $3,000

For the Endowment Fund of Emory College.

Over $150,000 Has Been Raised by President Dickey. Senior Class Gift Came as a Surprise.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—The members of the senior class of Emory college, without any solicitation or suggestion whatever from any other than a member of the class, but as a token of their love for the college, have subscribed $3,000 to the rapidly increasing endowment fund of the college, the fact being made public by Dr. James E. Dickey in chapel this morning.

No one knew that the senior class was contemplating such a move at this time, so the announcement came as a surprise. Before making the announcement of the gift, Dr. Dickey spoke of the progress of the campaign for the endowment and of the hearty responses on the part of the loyal alumni of the institution.

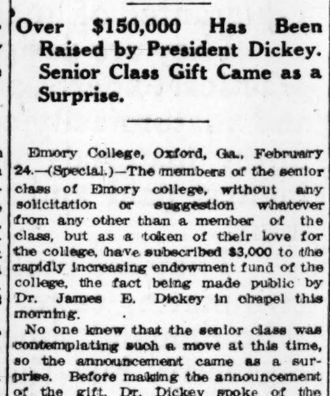

"But," he exclaimed, "I hold in my hand, young gentlemen, the most generous gift yet received. Without any solicitation or suggestion whatever, so far as I can learn, the senior class has subscribed $3,000 to the endowment fund." Continuing, Dr. Dickey appropriately expressed thanks for the gift, and was visibly touched when he spoke of the love of these undergraduates for their college. There are about 32 members of this class.

This campaign for a half-million dollar endowment for Emory, which was launched only last July, is meeting with marvelous success, about half of the needed $300,000 having already been raised by Dr. Dickey.

MR. WILDER TELLS THE GOPHER A JOKE.

of the Mississippi. Nashville reported 3.68 inches rainfall in twenty-four hours. It is quite cold along the entire Rocky Mountain slope from Texas to Montana, Huron reporting the lowest temperature at 2 degrees below zero.

Freezing weather is anticipated in Atlanta tonight, according to Section Director Von Herrmann. Following the rain of early yesterday morning the temperature began to drop, and the wind blew at a velocity of over 36 miles per hour in a northwest direction. The maximum temperature was 55.

"Well, of all the funny men I have ever known," said the Gopher, "Mr. Wilder is the funniest, and if he hasn't the call on them all I will give it up. The other day Marshall told me a joke on a certain fellow I know, and my side is still sore from the way I laughed. There is nothing better than a good joke now and then, but if I heard one like that every day I fear I would grow too fat."

HE GAVE A PUNCH BOWL.

Washington, February 24.—Unusual honors were conferred today on the retiring members of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce. On behalf of the members of the comittee, Representative Townsend, of Michigan, presented to the retiring chairman, Colonel Heyburn, of Iowa, with a magnificent chair; Representative Knowland, of California, presented Vice President-elect Sherman with a desk set, elaborately adorned with sterling silver, and Representative Adamson, of Georgia, gave Representative Ryan, of New York, a punch bowl.

Charged With Kidnaping.

Bremen, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—William McVicker, about 55 years old, an umbrella fixer, was arrested here by Marshal W. O. Bullard on advice from the sheriff of Etowah county, Alabama, charged with kidnaping J. K. Junk, a lad about 15 years old. Deputy Sheriff Lester, of Gadsden, returned to the Alabama town this morning, having in custody the accused.

SERUM RECEIVED FOR MENINGITIS

First Shipment Ready for Distribution Among the Physicians.

Dr. Claude A. Smith, city chemist and bacteriologist, received yesterday morning the first shipment of meningitis serum from New York, and he at once sent out letters to all practicing physicians in the city, advising them that the serum could be obtained free of cost.

It was through Dr. Smith's efforts that Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, of New York city, was induced to supply Atlanta with the meningitis serum.

It was well known that the dread disease had made its appearance in Atlanta with fatal effect. Only until recently was it discovered that a serum could stay the disease.

Dr. Smith has received the following letter of instructions with the first shipment of the serum:

Instructions for Its Use.

The antiserum should be kept in a refrigerator until it is to be used, when it should be warmed to the body temperature before it is injected.

The antiserum is to be introduced directly into the spinal canal after the withdrawal of cerebro-spinal fluid by lumbar puncture.

The quantity of antiserum to be used at a single injection should not exceed for the present 30 to 45 cubic centimeters. It is desirable, although it is not essential, to withdraw from the spinal canal at least as much fluid as the amount of antiserum to be injected. The injection should be made slowly and carefully to avoid the production of symptoms due to increased pressure. This precaution should be exercised especially where the quantity of cerebro-spinal fluid withdrawn is less than the amount of antiserum to be injected.

The injection of antiserum should be repeated every twenty-four to twenty-eight hours for three or four injections, or at somewhat larger intervals, depending upon the nature and gravity of the case. Whether any advantage will be gained by more frequent or more numerous injections than here indicated, a wider experience must decide. As much as 120 cubic centimeters of the antiserum have been injected into the spinal canal in four days, and more than 300 cubic centimeters in the course of a single case of meningitis without causing unpleasant symptoms.

Until the antiserum is conclusively proven to be of value in the treatment of epidemic meningitis, its manner of action should be carefully observed and recorded so that a definite decision may be reached as quickly as possible.

In making the lumbar puncture, careful aseptic technique should, of course, be employed, so as to prevent outside infection.

The serum can be obtained free of charge by physicians applying to the laboratory of hygiene.

Physicians obtaining serum are required to keep an accurate record of cases for report to the Rockefeller institute, and the cerebro-spinal fluid is to be sent to the city laboratory for bacteriological examination. There is no charge for this examination.

Inauguration Special.

In addition to regular train service the Southern Railway will have on Tuesday, March 2, a high-class train to leave Atlanta at 11:30 a. m. This train will carry dining car, day coaches and Pullman sleepers and will arrive Washington at 7 a. m. Write James Freeman, district passenger agent, or call at city ticket office, No. 1 Peachtree street.

BISHOP NELSON HELD ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

Right Rev. Cleland Kinloch Nelson, D.D., bishop of the Atlanta diocese, celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of his consecration yesterday morning at the holy communion service in St. Philip's cathedral.

The exercises were impressive and beautiful, and were attended by a large number of communicants. Bishop Nelson delivered his anniversary address in his usual interesting and clear-cut style, and was the recipient of many congratulations upon his long service as bishop.

Assisting Bishop Nelson in the celebration of the holy communion were Dr. C. T. A. Pise, dean of the cathedral; Rev. Mr. Spear and Rev. J. J. Perry. The music was rendered by Mark Andrews, and the anthem, "Whosoever dwelleth under defense of the most high," was delivered by G. C. Martin.

Bishop Nelson was consecrated in St. Luke's cathedral now church, February 24, 1892. For the past two years he has kept his anniversary at St. Philip's, but previous to that time he always observed the event in the church in which he was consecrated.

LENTEN SERVICES IN MANY CHURCHES

Many Services Held Yesterday. To Be Observed Through Easter.

Lent, observed throughout the Christian world, beginning with Ash Wednesday, yesterday, will be kept with religious exactness by the congregations of the Catholic, Episcopal and other churches of Atlanta. Yesterday morning the first two named denominations held special services, and will do so daily for the forty days preceding Easter Sunday.

With the Episcopalians it was the day of special celebration in view of the fact it was the seventeenth anniversary of the consecration of Bishop C. K. Nelson as a bishop, which ceremony took place at "Old St. Luke's" on February 24, 1892. Bishop Nelson preached at the cathedral, and holy communion was taken there, too. Usually all the ministers of this faith meet with him on this date, but on account of the day being Ash Wednesday they had services in their own churches. With him, however, were Dr. C. T. Pise, rector at St. Phillip's; Rev. Mr. Spear, Rev. J. J. T. Perry and Rev. J. F. DeBell.

Lenten services will be held daily at the cathedral at 7:30 and 9 o'clock a. m. and 4:30 p. m., with preaching by the bishop at 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday and Friday. At St. Luke's, Dr. Wilmer, the rector, observed early communion at 7:30 o'clock, with services at 10:30 o'clock. This service will be continued daily. Mr. Farland, rector of All Saints', will conduct his usual Lenten services.

The noon-day Lenten services, held for years in the Y. M. C. A. building from 12:30 o'clock to 1 o'clock, are being held this year in Cable hall. Bishop Nelson is conducting them, and will be assisted by Rev. Dr. Wilmer, Rev. Dr. Pise, Rev. Dr. Farland, Rev. Dr. Meminger, Rev. Mr. DeOves, of Birmingham; Rev. Dr. Lingle, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Mr. Rogers, of the Baptist church, who will conduct them from day to day.

In all of the Catholic churches of the city the usual Lenten services will be held, masses being said as usual. There will be special services announced in these churches from time to time.

The other denominations will have sermons preached on Lenten topics during the observance of Lent.

ALL FEDERAL PRISONERS TO BE SENT TO ATLANTA

Government Cancels Contract With the Moundsville Prison.

A press dispatch from Moundsville, W. Va., where the penitentiary of that state is located, and with which the United States government has a contract for keeping prisoners, states that a report has been received there that the national government has cancelled the agreement with West Virginia, and will, in the future, send all prisoners to the penitentiary at Atlanta, and that those now confined in the West Virginia prison will soon be transferred to Atlanta.

The dispatch reads:

"Moundsville, W. Va., February 24.—According to a report here, Attorney General Bonaparte has issued an order to stop sending federal convicts to the Moundsville penitentiary. In the future all federal prisoners will go to Atlanta, Ga., and, it is said, convicts now there will be taken there."

So far, the officials at the federal prison have not received any advices confirming the press message, but the absence of advices does not indicate any incorrectness in the dispatch. Deputy Warden McClaughery, while admitting that so far as he knew, nothing had reached the prison here in conformity with the message, said that he would not be surprised to find it correct.

Before the Atlanta prison was built, convicts from territory now tributary to Atlanta were sent to Columbus, Ohio, and to Moundsville, where the government has a contract with the two states indicated. After the Atlanta prison was opened it diminished greatly the convicts sent to the two prisons previously used. The convicts made in Washington are, however, as a rule, still being sent to Moundsville, but a few days ago a batch of a half-dozen or so were sent direct from the national capital to Atlanta, which may be taken as a confirmation of the suggested action of Attorney General Bonaparte.

The Moundsville prison had been in bad for some months past, and a legislative committee of West Virginia has been investigating the conditions. It has been openly charged that counterfeiting has been going on within the prison walls, the work being done by prisoners. For some days past the press dispatches have been telling of the investigation by the committees, and the stories have been rather sensational upon several occasions.

NEAR FLOOD AT AUGUSTA

Savannah River Now Shows a Depth of 27 Feet.

Augusta, Ga., February 24.—The Savannah river, which has been threatening to rise for about two weeks, is again very high, though a serious overflow is not expected, unless there should be continued heavy rains up country.

More than three inches of rain have fallen locally in the past three days, though the watershed reports less. The gauge at the wharf, official measurement, shows a depth of 27 feet at 1 o'clock this afternoon, with the water at a stand, practically, the hourly rise being of the slightest. A maximum of 28 feet is the forecast by the local weather bureau. There is much uneasiness throughout the city, and the lowering clouds are scaring many.

The caving in of the end of Market street in the upper portion of the city this morning added to the popular alarm. A large piece of earth was undermined and sank into the river. This was distorted into a calamity. Clear weather is promised tonight up country.

Argentina Loan in Demand.

London, February 24.—The rush for the Argentina loan of $50,000,0000 has been so great that the subscription lists, which were opened this morning, had to be closed at once.

MUSIC FESTIVAL IS WELL IN HAND

Enthusiasm Is Growing and Spreading and Success Now Certain.

Enthusiasm for the Great Southern Musical Festival continues to increase day by day, and as it increases it spreads out, and is reaching to every section where there are music lovers who can come to Atlanta when the festival takes place.

While enough subscriptions have been secured to provide the guarantee fund of $20,000, this does not mean that the entire sum needed is in hand. The leading business men have responded so well, however, that there is now no longer any doubt about all the money being subscribed.

The work of organizing and the training of a chorus of 500 voices will begin at once, under the direction of Professor H. W. B. Barns. There will be frequent rehearsals, so that the chorus will be thoroughly trained by the time the festival opens.

Applications for reserved seats are already being received, not only from residents of Atlanta, but from people throughout the state.

The arrangements have been so rapidly perfected that little remains to be done to carry out the grand program, which will present to the music lovers one of the finest feasts of music that has ever been heard in this section of the country.

Fort McPherson, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—For the first time since the return of the First and Second battalions from Cuba, dress parade was held yesterday afternoon. Owing to the fine weather, many people were on hand to enjoy the band concert and parade, the north drive being crowded with automobiles and carriages.

The weekly hop of the Fort McPherson Dancing Club was held last evening, and a large attendance was on hand, owing to the fine weather. Many young couples from Atlanta journeyed to the fort to enjoy the dance, and a most pleasant evening was spent by all.

SOCIETY

Two Unusual Women.

Miss Ida Allison, of Oklahoma, is at the Piedmont, in the interest of the present concert tour of Ellen Beach Yaw, which will bring Miss Yaw to Atlanta for a recital next Thursday night, and it would be difficult to determine in which of the two women lies the greater interest, as to personality and career.

Ellen Beach Yaw sang in Atlanta some years ago, when her "high notes," which were said to top those of any of the great sopranos, were her chief stock in trade, but she sails now under different colors—no longer as a "freak" soprano, but as a grand opera star of the first magnitude, as an artist whose earnest study during the years of her retirement from the stage have earned for her ovations last winter and this season from the audiences of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company.

She was called upon last March, after her long study abroad, to take the place of the renowned Tetrazzini, who was ill, and she sang the part of "Lucia de Lammermoor" in such manner as to establish at once her standing among the great prima donnas. With all her art, she has retained and perfected her wonderful high register, and it is said that in this same role of Lucia she reaches and holds double high C, which is six notes higher than Tetrazzini attempts. The highest note of the human voice ever recorded before Miss Yaw was that of Azquiri, who lived in the days of Mozart, but Miss Yaw exceeds that by four full notes.

To return to Miss Allison, however, it is unique, at least in this part of the country, that a woman should be engaged in the profession that brings Miss Allison to Atlanta—that of advance work for a concert tour, and she was asked yesterday about her motives for going into it.

"I hardly know," she said. "It was impulse, finally a telegram giving me this opportunity, and I took it at once, almost without thinking. A friend in the business, though, had been urging me to take it up, and I had realized its advantages. To travel and to see something of many places and many people was my chief motive. My travel is under very pleasant conditions, too, and the work is agreeable—not too arduous, but I do have to use my brain occasionally," and she smiled, with a gesture toward a desk full of correspondence.

Miss Allison's appearance seemed to belie the information given beforehand that she is of Indian extraction, but she declared with emphasis that she is not merely of Indian extraction, but that she is Cherokee.

The comment that her complexion, her features, her hair, would scarcely indicate it, made Miss Allison most insistent. "Look at my eyes," she said. "Don't you think they betray the Indian?" But beyond their steadfastness and clearness it had to be admitted that they would scarcely have singled out their attractive owner, as in truth, the typical and original "American girl."

She is one-sixteenth Cherokee, but very apparently prides herself more on that than the fifteen-sixteenths English and Scotch.

Her education was secured principally in Oklahoma, and her description of the educational advantages in her native state are most interesting.

"The Indians are often called a burden on the white people, but at least in Oklahoma it is the white people who are the burden," she explained. "The Cherokees, for instance, have their own schools and colleges, and even their girls' seminaries, which are supported by the Cherokees themselves, who are proud, and who are not only independent of the educational bounty of the government, but who must extend the use of their schools to the white children."

It was Miss Allison who, in December last, won in the United States supreme court a case which returned to the Indians of Oklahoma 400,000 acres of land which had been taken from them during the year 1907, just before the retirement of Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock.

Against the advice of friends who cited the difficulty and the delays in winning a case against the government, Miss Allison went to law, securing as counsel the firm of Kapplen & Merrillat and James K. Jones & Sons, of Washington, and she won in every court, the decision meaning the restoration of their property not only to Miss Allison and her family, but to 4,000 other Cherokees, whose land had been stricken from enrollment at the same time.

A very young woman, Miss Allison has spent most of her life at school, but the initiative, the clearness of vision with which she handles her present work, requiring, as it does, a knowledge of people and of business not usually taught in schools, suggests that she must have much of that originality and strength of mind and character of which she is so proud in her people—their language, as she pointed out, a root language, derived from no other, and their proper pride, the basis of an independent educational system even in a new country, and under difficult conditions.

Baker-Currie.

A pretty wedding last night was that of Miss Annie Baker and Mr. Wilmer E. Currie, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Baker, on Alexander street.

The ceremony, at 8:30 o'clock, was performed by Dr. J. S. French, and the only attendants were Mrs. James Myron Fitton and Mr. Miller S. Baker.

The bride was charming in her traveling gown of blue rajan silk, braided, and her hat in the same color was trimmed with roses. Her shower bouquet was of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a cream-colored lingerie gown, trimmed with black velvet ribbon, and her bouquet was of pink roses.

The wedding march was played by Mr. Paul Donehoo, and a buffet supper was served after the ceremony. There were present only relatives and a few friends. Mrs. Baker was gowned in black silk and lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Currie went to Florida on their wedding trip, and both have a large acquaintance to congratulate them. Mr. Currie is pleasantly known in the insurance world.

Japanese Tea Rooms.

The Japanese tea room is proving a popular rendezvous in the "House that Jack built," under the auspices of the Atlanta Art Association. Members of the association are in charge each day. The menu today will include chicken, terrapin, Waldorf salad, hot muffins, sandwiches, tea and coffee.

Mrs. Barbour Thompson will be chairman, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Knowles, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Frank Butt, Mrs. Thornton Marye.

Heart-Dice Party.

The heart-dice party given yesterday by Miss Cora Hemphill was a pretty compliment to Miss Webb, of Chattanooga, and Miss Collup, of Virginia, the guests of Mrs. J. S. French, and Mrs. Charles Leonard, of Macon, who is visiting Mrs. E. H. Goodhart.

Jonquils were used with palms and ferns in tasteful decoration, and bouquets of jonquils were souvenirs for all the guests. In the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served, the table centerpiece was a bowl of jonquils, the candelabra had yellow and white shades, and the candies were in those colors.

Mrs. Crane's Card Party.

In honor of Mrs. Miller, of Terre Haute, Ind., the guest of Mrs. Clarence Houston, Mrs. E. D. Crane entertained yesterday morning at bridge; thirty-six ladies in the party.

The prizes, lace jabots and a lace handkerchief, were won by Mrs. George Brine, Mrs. Leon Smith and Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Miller wore with a rose-colored gown a black picture hat.

Children's Civic Improvement Club.

Seventeen up-to-date little men and women gathered at the home of Mrs. Edwin Sherrett, 28 Queen street, Saturday afternoon, when a Children's Civic Improvement Club was organized. Mrs. Sherrett and Miss Helen Gray gave talks on the subject, after which an election of officers took place. Miss Theodosia Andrews was elected president; Miss Annie May Gilreath, vice-president; Master Samuel Lewis, secretary.

A most interesting discussion on things relating to civic improvement was then engaged in. The meeting was a genuine success. The club is fortunate in having for its president one of the cleverest little ladies in West End.

Gossip of Well-Known People.

The New York Herald of Tuesday, February 23, gives an interesting account of a colonial costume dinner, at which two Atlanta beauties were present—Mrs. William H. Kiser and Mrs. William Tilt.

The notice in The Herald is as follows:

Greenwich, Conn., Monday.—Many New York society people gathered this afternoon at the Boulders, the country house here of Mr. C. W. Post, to attend a colonial party given by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Close, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. Post. Every one represented a colonial or revolutionary character, Mr. and Mrs. Close being made up as George Washington and Martha Washington.

The spacious halls were decorated in colonial style, and after dinner a dance was held into which were introduced the minuet and other old-time dances.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Moore, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Colby M. Chester, Mr. and Mrs. E. Brewer, Miss Adelaide McAlpin, Mr. J. R. Johnson, Mr. J. Victor Froment, Mr. H. B. Close, Mr. and Mrs. William Tilt, Mr. and Mrs. Kiser, Atlanta.

The annual meeting of the Southern Society of New York was an interesting occasion at the Hotel Astor Monday evening. An exchange has a story of the evening as follows:

Two of the largest ball rooms in the Hotel Astor, the north and east rooms, were required for the "Dixie dinner," given by the New York Southern Society last night. Everything was in true southern style. The women were not relegated to the balconies to look down upon the men creation, but sat with them at tables. There were southern songs, southern stories and a larger gathering of southern men and women than were ever before assembled in New York.

It was by far the most successful event in the history of the society. Every state south of Mason and Dixon's line was well represented, and the tables had been so arranged that natives of each state sat in groups. From the ceiling were suspended pretty electric lamps, and on the shades appeared the names of the various states. The arrangement was like that at a national political convention, so that when a guest entered the room he had but to look about until he saw the name of his state and there he was sure to find his friends and neighbors of years gone by.

Dr. John Allan Wyeth, president of the society, explained that he wanted each speaker within reach, to see that he did not exceed his ten minutes' limit. "We are not seeking fame here tonight in a postprandial way," he said, "but we shall try, through a few simple little stories, or series of stories, to bring back pictures of the old days of the south, so dear to us all." The program of stories follows:

"An Old-Fashioned Servant," by Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith; "Slavery On a Louisiana Plantation," by Dr. William M. Polk; "A Runaway Slave," by Dr. John Allan Wyeth, with "Dixie" and other southern songs interspersed. Besides these were a talk by Professor William P. Trent, of Columbia, on Edgar Allan Poe, and a talk on "Sam Davis, the Spy and Martyr," by Mr. Joshua Brown.

Mr. William McAdoo, builder of the New Jersey tunnels, has been elected president of the society, but declined to assume the responsibilities of toastmaster last night, saying he preferred to take the oath of office after President Taft had been sworn in at Washington.

Among some of those present were Mr. Joseph P. Daly, Mr. Walter L. McCorkle, Dr. Pierce A. Morrow, Dr. Julien P. Thomas, Mr. Marion J. Vedery, Mr. Thomas H. Watson.

Mrs. Kittie Cheatham Thompson is fulfilling a most successful engagement in New York, her character songs meeting with popular recognition.

Mrs. Josiah K. Ohl and her daughter, Miss Joan Ohl, have taken an apartment in Madison avenue, New York, for the winter. Miss Ohl is receiving many attentions, and her friends in Georgia will be glad to learn that she will visit in the south in the spring. She will visit Washington, Ga., Athens and Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bristol, of Newport, R. I., were among the popular people taking part in the social activities marking the home-coming of the fleet. They were at the Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort.

Bright Program.

The Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, will have a charming program of song and story after the business session Thursday, in charge of Miss Nina Hornaday, who has planned a most instructive and delightful evening.

Men distinguished in American and southern annals will be the subjects given by the Daughters.

Our first president, George Washington, whose birthday the nation has just celebrated, will be presented first; Robert E. Lee follows, by Mrs. Wolff; Stonewall Jackson, by Mrs. Howard McCall; J. E. B. Stuart, by Mrs. Lawshe; Albert Sydney Johnston, by Miss Sallie Long; Alexander Stephens, by Mrs. Charles Rice; John B. Gordon, by Mrs. Owens Johnston; Edgar Allan Poe, by Mrs. R. M. Blackburn; Pickens, by Mrs. Sparks, and Sidney Lanier, by Miss Sallie Melone.

This remarkable program will be interspersed with appropriate music by rs. Bower and Miss Buchanan.

Lecture on Sidney Lanier.

Mrs. Elijah Brown will entertain the Inman Park Students' Club Thursday afternoon, at which time Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, will deliver a lecture on Sidney Lanier. The regular meeting of the club will be Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Phillips, on Highland avenue.

A Noted Entertainer.

Walter Bradley Tripp, variously called monologuist, dramatic reader and raconteur, will give an entertainment at Cable hall tonight at 8:30, and his audience is assured a bright evening.

A scholar, rather than an elocutionist, and a man of experience, both as a teacher in the Emerson School of Oratory and as an actor, Mr. Tripp includes in his repertoire a variety of chings from plays by Shakespeare, Sheridan, Augustus Thomas and Bernard Shaw, to story-telling, which is pure fun, and in his every line he has met with success. A fine stage presence is another point in his favor, and the press and people where he has been heard are always warm in their praise of him.

Violin Scholarship.

The contest for the scholarship given by Mr. Richard Schliewen, dean and professor of violin at the Atlanta Conservatory of Music, was held last Saturday afternoon.

This contest revealed again the fact that there is a great deal of musical talent in Atlanta. Professor Schliewen was greatly pleased with the good and thorough work which was shown by some of the young students.

The greatest skill was exhibited by young Mr. Lucius Duncan, who played one of De Beriot's pieces with clear technique and fine, warm tone, while little Miss Annie Laurie Cox, 10 years of age, showed great musical versatility, inasmuch as she not only played several violin pieces very acceptably, but sang and improvised on the piano as well, so that it was impossible to decide to which of these two young prodigies should be given preference.

After weighing the matter carefully from every viewpoint, it has been decided to divide the scholarship between Lucius Duncan and Annie Laurie Cox, thereby entitling each to one lesson per week.

Mr. Schliewen desires that honorable mention should be made of Misses Bessie Wall and Daisy Strickland, Masters Ralph Landrum and Louis Race.

Feminine Pockets.

Present indications point to the almost immediate revival of pockets in women's clothes, and womankind, with a few exceptions, will greet the innovation with enthusiasm. The few exceptions are the women who fear for the lines in their tailor gowns, the perfection of which might be jeopardized by the possible bulging of pockets, but the great mass of women will be ready to demand pockets, and still to trust the preservation of all their good points to their dressmakers.

Miss Suzanne Leonard Westford, the clever sister of Lillian Russell, who has a prominent part in "Fifty Miles from Boston," which appears at the Grand next Monday and Tuesday, is considered to be one of the smartest dressers on or off the stage, and she is infinitely proud of her new tailor gown which has four pockets, not imitation ones nor patch pockets, but the real thing, in which she can stow away her handkerchiefs, vanity box, postage stamps, powder puff, samples, latch key, note book, extra hairpins and other light luggage, without which no self-respecting female will fare forth.

"Just think to what extremes we have been driven" exclaimed Miss Westford dramatically, as she deftly powdered her nose while getting ready for the second act of "Fifty Miles from Boston," the other night. "We have been compelled to outwit our dressmakers who simply refused us pockets because they would spoil the fit. We have resorted to using our stockings, our belts, our gloves and even our pompadours for receptacles. The secret of the shirtwaist popularity was discovered to lie in the fact that most anything could be 'cached' in the blouse front, and the very next model came out buttoned up the back.

"We were revenged though, at least the married women were, by using the tiniest buttons and the most of them that they could on this style blouse, and husbands spent many a bad quarter of an hour buttoning them up.

"Then, after a tiresome round of hand bags of all sorts and conditions, but all offering the same temptation to the purse snatcher, I simply stood upon my rights as a free and independent woman and insisted upon having pockets in my street gowns. I have four, two regulation coat pockets, an inside pocket in my jacket and a dear little duck of a small change pocket, and I am wholly care free and ready to defy any modiste who dares to say that she can find a single 'bulge' in my fall gowns."

Store News

Our Children's Department "First Aid to the Busy Mother," it might well be called. For surely that's what it is--this delightful depot of children's wearables on the second floor.

Just now. its attractions are uncommom. Here are the new Spring Frocks, the Coats, the Bonnets--all as dainty and fresh as the wee blossoms in the Spring woods.

There's an idea of service behind everything that's worth the while. The underlying thought in this department is to make it a dependable and serviceable shopping-center for those who have children's clothes to buy. We are improving it constantly--new things, better things, prettier things, greater variety, more co-operative salesmanship.

The Spring Things As we said, it is delightfully worth your attention just now. Which is as it should be, for just now is the time par excellence for laying in the supplies of Summer clothes. Forehanded mothers already have their sartorial programs well in hand.

Dresses The little white frocks are in all degrees of simplicity and elaborateness. Some are those little straight-from-the-shoulder affairs with tucks and maybe a peeping edge of tiny embroidery. Some have bretelles, lace or embroidery trimmed: others have shaped yokes and collars; still others are the little Russian frocks; while not a few have long waists with flirty little flounces for skirts. Pink and blue Greenaway bows and soft little rosettes are tacked on effectively, and dainty beadings are drawn through with the freshest colored ribbons.

Then there are the little gingham and madras frocks, serviceable and neat. Plenty of siyles, plenty of colors.

Coats and Reefers The Spring Reefers are very simple and therefore very pretty. Serge is favored. We have navy, white, light blue, shepherd checks, plaids, stripes, rose, tan, brown --all the colors. With their big pearl buttons and their gay emblems embroidered on the sleeves, these Coats will please both their wee wearers and their elders. A very pretty full length Coat is of cream alpaca with broad lingerie collar.

Bonnets They're just as quaint and sweet as can be. Of course, here are the muslin Caps for infants--simple little lawn Caps with briar-stitching or a frill of lace or maybe a little hemstitcht edge. And more elaborate ones of inserting and lace and embroidery. Then here are the Bonnets of soft Tuscan straw, loosely woven and in the prettiest of patterns. These are Chiffon or silk lined and deckt with Choux of softest ribbon and maybe a cluster of tiny pink rosebuds, of blue forget-me-nots, or of dainty primroses.

Then for larger children we have the fine little Milans, the Tuscan braids, the Leghorns. These have a simple ribbon band with ends, a soft drapery or a sash trimming.

Ribbons of two tones and plaid silk stuffs are used with charming effect. We have Hats suitable for girls up to 8 and 10 years of age.

Hand-Made Frocks Infants' Dresses of the finest hand-made style; very simple or very elaborate as one chooses.

SCHOOLS TO GET HIRE OF CONVICTS

Net Income Last Quarter 1908 to Be Distributed.

Military Property Cannot Be Loaned for the Inauguration Trip — Savannah Guards Case Is Settled.

The net income arising from the hire of convicts for the last quarter of 1908 will, as announced several days ago in The Constitution, be distributed to the 117 counties of the state which are not using convicts under the old law.

This was definitely decided yesterday when the prison commission informed Governor Smith that this part of the fund would not be needed for the support of the prison establishment during the current year.

State Treasurer Park, having received notice to that effect from the governor, will proceed to distribute this money, amounting approximately to $57,000, within the next few days. There will be a brief delay, due to the fact that one of the lessees has not paid the amount due the state. His bondsman has been notified and it is expected payment will be made within a few days.

This means that the distribution will probably take place next week. This is the amount which has usually been distributed each quarter for school purposes, representing the receipts from the convict hire after deducting the expense of the prison department.

Just how much of the convict hire for the first quarter of 1909 these counties will receive, if any, remains to be seen. If the commission finds that it can purchase a farm, equip it and maintain the white convicts until they make a crop, on the receipts from the near beer tax, amounting to about $150,000, then the net receipts for this quarter will also be distributed, as usual. That, however, will have to be determined later.

Cannot Lend Military Property

As the result of a request from the Georgia Military academy for the loan of some saddles and other military property in order to complete their outht for use at the inauguration, and another request from a military school in south Georgia for the loan of some guns, Quartermaster General W. G. Obear yesterday requested from Attorney General John C. Hart an opinion as to whether there is any authority for the loan of military property to persons not connected with the national guard, or for uses not appertaining to the regular state militia service.

After an examination of the law, Attorney General Hart replied that no such authority exists, and the quartermaster general will have to decline to loan the property. The decision is in line with an order issued some time ago by the war department intended to stop the practice of loaning military property to institutions or individuals not connected with the military servce.

Guards' Case Is Settled.

An understanding has been reached between the war department and the Savannah Volunteer Guards, of Savannah, now organized as coast artillery, under which the status of that command will remain unchanged.

A letter received yesterday by Adjutant General A. J. Scott from Captain John A. Hutton, senior captain commanding the corps, signifies that it is their purpose to conform to the regulations and requirements of the department relative to coast artillery, which means the corps will attend all future encampments ordered at Fort Screven. It is denied by Captain Hutton that the corps assumed an attitude of refusal to attend the camp of instruction only once in two years.

Governor Smith's action in excusing the corps from the encampment on Tybee this year will stand, and the war department will enter no further objection to it. The department also signifies its intention to supply the corps with such armory equipment and property as is needed to facilitate its work and instruction. A copy of Captain Hutton's letter will be forwarded to the war department and this, it seems, will complete the entirely amicable understanding that has been reached.

Requisition for Hull.

Governor Smith yesterday issued a requisition directed to the governor of British Columbia, Dominion of Canada, for Oscar R. Hull, now under arrest at Revelstroke, in that province, and wanted in Savannah on a charge of forgery. Hull is charged with forging orders of the Southern Express Company, which he negotiated and used the proceeds. The requisition appoints Patrick R. Burns as agent for Georgia to bring Hull back to this state.

May Use Funds From Farm.

In an opinion furnished the prison commission by Attorney General Hart yesterday, he holds that the commission, under the law, unquestionably has the right to use the proceeds from the sale of products raised on the state farm in Baldwin county, directly for the support of that institution and for making such improvements as are essential to its proper conduct, reporting to the governor upon these expenditures.

The state now has some 400 bales of cotton raised on this farm, which will soon be sold and will bring in something like $18,000 or more. The commission desired to know whether it had the power to make direct use of this fund for the purposes stated. Judge Hart holds that there is no doubt of it, and that the commission may use it in the manner stated, turning the net proceeds into the state treasury.

It is the purpose of the commission to use part of the fund so derived in providing a suitable place for the care of the criminal insane, which it is now obliged to keep on the farm. The commission also proposes to provide a separate building for those convicts afflicted with tuberculosis, of whom there are some twenty-five and who now are necessarily housed along with the other prisoners. It is also necessary to provide more extensive quarters for white female prisoners, because of the fact that hereafter those guilty of misdemeanors will be sent to the farm. The necessity for making these improvements led the commission to inquire as to its authority for direct expenditure of this fund.

Jack Cain's Case Heard.

The prison commission yesterday heard argument on the application of Jack Cain, of Spalding county, for commutation of sentence from death on the gallows to life imprisonment. Cain is to be hanged tomorrow for the murder of Jack Brown unless executive clemency is granted. Cain was to have been executed last Monday, but was granted a respite until Friday on petition of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who felt that Washington's birthday should not be desecrated by an execution. The commission will reach decision upon his application today.

Not in a Hurry to Buy Land.

It is possible that the prison commission will not, as heretofore stated, reach a conclusion this week as to what property it will buy for a prison farm for the white convicts. A member of the commission said yesterday there would be time enough if the state did not close the deal for the property until the middle of March, though it is practically certain that action will be taken before that time.

But the longer the commission defers action, the keener becomes the competition and the cheaper the land gets. The commission now anticipates little difficulty in getting a good 5,000-acre farm for about $60,000. Just which farm it will be is still much of a mystery. That is what the landowners who have made bids would very much like to know.

After the Cattle Tick.

Much uneasiness and apprehension exists as the result of the action of the national department of agriculture in discontinuing its work of eradicating the cattle tick, in the cattle-growing districts of the southern states. It is alleged that this has been due to lack of cooperation on the part of the states and the communities in which the work was being done.

Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson left the city yesterday for Washington, where he has gone with a view to urging the department to resume this important work. He says there has been no lack of cooperation on the part of Georgia, and that a resumption of the work of eradication is of vital interest to the cattle industry in the state.

The protest of the Georgia peach growers against the circular recently issued by the Southern Express Company, in which it announces an increase of 20 per cent in the heretofore agreed weight of peaches shipped in standard crates, will come up for hearing before the state railroad commission today. The peach growers will make strong and emphatic protest against the enforcement of the increased weight schedule.

Two New Georgia Banks.

Two new Georgia state banks applied to Secretary of State Philip Cook yesterday for charters. One of these is the Farmers and Merchants' bank of Chipley, Harris county, and the other the Chester Banking Company, of Chester, Dodge county. Each is to have a capital stock of $25,000.

Quartermaster General's Smile

The secret was learned yesterday of the broad smile, tinged with condescension, which Quartermaster General W. G. Obear is now wearing. It is due to the arrival at his home of Miss Julia Obear, now aged just two days and a fraction. The little lady gives every evidence of enjoying life, and her mother is quite comfortable.

ATLANTA

PROHIBITION IS STILL

Up to the Senate in South Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., Februaury 24.—The question of prohibition is still occupying the time of the state senate, and tonight the matter is still under discussion. It is probable that a vote may be reached some time tomorrow or tomorrow night. While the house has already passed a state-wide prohibition bill, there is a majority against the measure in the senate.

It is likely that the senate will pass a bill allowing each county to say whether or not it desires prohibition or dispensary.

and master in chancery, but said they were due to bad management and poor bookkeeping and that every dollar was made good. He admitted that Polk was his partner in the ventures named, but declared that he (Cooper) never handled a dollar of the money and had no knowledge that it was taken from the state's strong-box.

Cooper Hard to Handle.

Colonel Cooper made an excellent witness, but one hard to handle, even by his own counsel. Repeatedly he urged Judge Anderson to let the state ask "any question on any subject," and at times answered over his own attorney's objections. Now and then he displayed great heat, but he did not contradict himself upon any point. True, when court adjourned the cross-examination had reached only the commencement of the trouble, the early editorials. Tomorrow the state should reach the actual killing.

It is likely, from the length to which the state is going on the colonel's cross-examination, that the witness will be on the stand all day tomorrow.

The usual big crowd gathered at the court house early this morning. There was not so many women in the throng, however, they arrived later and many an unfortunate man who had spent several hours waiting for a seat, found himself ejected from it by a hard-hearted deputy before he had been in it an hour, in order to make room for a woman.

There was some delay, caused by a conference of counsel for the defense, but finally they pushed into the bar, followed by the defendants and their host of relatives and friends. General Washington nodded to Colonel Cooper and the colonel walked over to the witness chair. As he passed his youngest daughter, Mrs. Beverly Wilson, she squeezed his arm affectionately.

When Colonel Cooper Saw Carmack.

General Washington took up the line of questioning where he left off last night. The colonel said as they approached Seventh avenue Robin and Sharp were in front of him.

"Robin turned and urged me to hurry. I told him to wait a minute. He and Sharp stopped and I caught up. Then he grabbed me and said, 'Let's hurry, papa.' The nervous grasp of his arm aroused my suspicions and intuitively I turned and saw Senator Carmack. Instantly I decided to go over and have a plain talk with Carmack to see if this affair which was worrying my friends, my children and myself could not be stopped."

"When you started out did you propose to meet him?"

"No, sir. The impulse came over me at once when I saw him, to go over and talk to him and have an understanding."

"When Robin caught you by the arm, did he try to move you toward Senator Carmack or away from him?"

When the Coopers Met Carmack.

"Well, I saw Senator Carmack coming up. First I thought I'd wait for him. Then I thought that might carry some significance, so I walked toward him. I saw him speak to Mrs. Eastman. I said, 'Mr. Carmack.' He threw up his head as though he had not seen me and at once drew his revolver and stepped in front of Mrs. Eastman, putting her between us, and stepping toward the curb. He was 5 or 6 feet from the curb when I called his name."

"What next?"

"He had his pistol in his hand and passed in front of Mrs. Eastman. Mrs. Eastman became wildly excited and grabbed the old man with her. I had made no hostile movement."

"What did you say?"

"I said, I think, that it was damned cowardly to get behind a woman with a pistol in his hand."

"Did you have a revolver out?"

"Not at that time."

"Did you have any purpose of shooting or killing him?"

"No, sir."

Denies Mrs. Eastman's Story.

"Did you say, 'I have the drop on you?'"

"I did not, for I did not have the drop on him."

"What happened next?"

"Well, Senator Carmack got around the post and at the same time Robin got in between us. In a second Carmack shot between the poles and Robin got around them. Then for the first time I saw Robin's revolver and saw him shoot."

"Did you have your pistol out?"

"Not until after Robin was shot. Then I drew my gun, but I saw Carmack was down and that Robin was shot, so I put my revolver back in my pocket and went to my son."

"How many shots were fired?"

"Five in all."

"Describe the reports."

"Mr. Carmack's shots were first and louder than those from Robin's pistol."

"What next?"

"Robin attracted my attention. He was leaning against the post and I could see he was wounded from his appearance. I took him to Dr. Fort's infirmary and telephoned my daughter and Attorney James Bradford. I think I phoned Dr. Burch, too."

Colonel Cooper Yields Revolver.

"What happened then?"

"Sergeant Reid came in said: 'You are my prisoner.' I said: 'You are entitled to my revolver, then,' and gave it to him."

"Was that gun still unfired?"

"It was. It had not been fired."

"What about Robin's pistol?"

"Some officer other than Reid got it. Robin told me the gun was in his overcoat pocket. I do not recall getting it out, but witnesses say I did.'

'Do you recall saying to keep other people out of the room, that you did not want to kill another man?'

"I do not remember. I protested against an indiscriminate crowd in the room. I did not say I didn't want to have to kill another man, for I hadn't killed one."

"Did Mrs. Eastman make any accusation against you after the shooting?"

"I know she said something, but my interest was centered in Robin and I got only a vague impression as to her excited, woman talking."

PROSECUTION BEGINS TO GRILL COLONEL DUNCAN B. COOPER

Captain Fitzhugh, of the state, arose to begin the cross-examination and the audience, with a murmur, leaned forward to catch every word. The attorney asked the colonel a few questions as to his early career and then, handing him some papers, said:

"They are."

"They were bonds you gave as clerk and master and aggregated $56,000?"

"I think so. You have the bonds."

Fitzhugh read the bonds and their reasons. They were given when Colonel Cooper was master in chancery of Maury county.

The witness said he was a brother of Edwin and Henry Cooper and took the oath of office as master to faithfully account for all funds that passed through his hand. He was asked to identify a suit or petition filed by J. R. and E. L. Cathey against D. B. Cooper and asked if he were the D. B. Cooper mentioned in it. He said he was.

Attacking Cooper's Character.

The defense objected vigorously and demanded to see the petition. Then General Washington said:

"We tried to get these papers when we heard this attack was to be made, but were informed the state had them. Thus we ask for time to examine them."

After examination, Fitzhugh said:

"Didn't you confess judgment on this petition and the charges therein?"

"The record will show that; I do not remember."

The witness examined the paper and said that the state's attorney was correct. Next Fitzhugh offered to read the bill and put it in as evidence. The defense objected, but were overruled.

"Are you not charged with appropriating to your own use $351, the proceeds of a sale of land, and did you not confess judgment?"

"Don't answer," interrupted Judge Anderson. "This incident occurred in 1883 and the supreme court has held that charges very remote may not be brought into a case against a man's character. If we try all these old chancery cases again here today, and we know how much in dispute these chancery suits are, we will be here all year."

To Prove Cooper an Embezzler.

The state replied through Fitzhugh, but after the first sentence the defense demanded that the jury retire. This was done and Fitzhugh resumed:

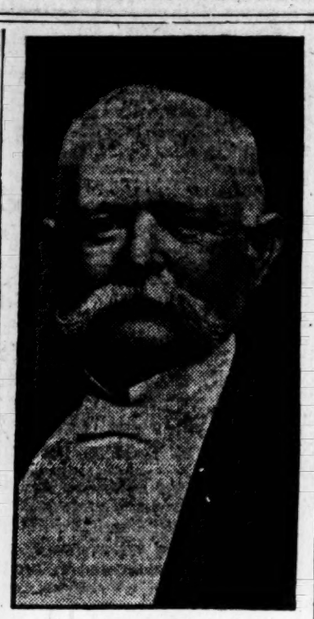

"We propose to show that this defendant, Colonel D. B. Cooper, is a defaulter and an embezzler to the extent of over $100,000. We propose to prove this beyond doubt and thus to show to the jury just how much credit they would place in his words. We propose to go further and prove by court records that his own brothers came into court and admitted that the defendant is a defaulter.

"We propose to show that he embezzled from estates, from widows and orphans, from the county and from the state and the very records kept by him prove it.

"But there is a further reason for this question. We have heard of the colonel's deep sense of honor; how stung he was by a few sarcastic editorials. But we will show that he was openly accused of embezzlement, yet he never said the town was not big enough for him and for the men who made the charges."

Defense Begins to Dodge.

Attorney General McCarn followed

COLONEL DUNCAN B. COOPER.

Fitzhugh and declared that they would carry these dishonest transactions from 1883 down to 1908 and that they were not too remote.

Judge Anderson replied for the defense: "We never claimed that Senator Carmack was killed because of these editorials. Our theory is that Robin Cooper killed Senator Carmack in self-defense, after the senator had shot him twice."

"Do you mean to say," interrupted Fitzhugh, "that you have not forced the editorials written by Carmack into evidence here as tending to show that Colonel Cooper was driven almost mad by these attacks upon his honor?"

"We have," replied Anderson, "to show the defendant's state of mind, not as a justification for the slaying."

For two hours the attorneys argued. Finally Judge Hart suggested that the state turn over the charges against Colonel Cooper to the defense for examination and that an adjournment be taken until 2 o'clock. The suggestion was adopted.

After the noon recess, Judge Anderson resumed his argument against the introduction of any records tending to show that Colonel Cooper had been guilty of embezzlement. He declared that even indictments for embezzlement against Colonel Cooper, if they existed, would not be admissible.

Victory for the Defense.

Finally, Judge Hart broke in with the decision that the defendant might be asked if he ever was clerk and master in chancery; if he ever defaulted in certain cases.

"If he says he does not remember," the court added, "the state may refresh his memory. If he says no, then that settles it."

"And may we ask him if he did not embezzle $100,000 while in office?" inquired Fitzhugh.

"Yes, I think you may."

"But your honor will not permit them to ask him if his brothers ever admitted that he was short in his accounts?" said Judge Anderson.

"No, sir, not yet. And as to the remoteness of these transactions. The word remote is capable of many interpretations. Where there is a series of events, connected together, it should be left to the jury to judge of their weight and the jury may consider the remoteness of the event on weighing the testimony. Bring in the jury, gentlemen, and resume cross-examination."

Colonel Cooper took the stand again and the state, encouraged by the partial victory, began its grilling.

Cooper's Shortage Paid by Brothers.

"How long were you clerk and master in chancery?"

"I was appointed in 1870 and resigned in 1881."

"Is it not a fact that many suits were filed against you and your sureties to recover money which passed through your hands and which you failed to charge to yourself?"

"Yes. I admit the five suits you mentioned."

"And no more?"

"No, sir. The sum aggregated $40,000, I think, the amount of one of the bonds."

"I will ask you to tell the jury what is the title of this paper."

"It is entitled John Burk v. D. B. Cooper."

"This paper is a statement signed and sworn to by your brother, is it not?"

"It is."

"I will ask you now to read this paper."

"I will, but it will take me some time, as my sight is not good."

Court Money Taken by Cooper.

The witness read and said: "This paper was written and signed by my brother."

"Now, Colonel Cooper, you said you recalled your brother paid out $40,000 for moneys collected by you and not accounted for, but did not remember the other penalty. Now, after reading that paper, state if you do not remember now that he paid out two other bonds, one for $40,000 and one for $10,000?"

The defense objected hotly and was sustained.

"Does the paper you have read refresh your memory?"

"No, it does not, because there are things in the paper that should be explained. I admit that the paper is correct."

"This missing money was the result of sale of property under orders of the court and came into your hands as an officer of the court?"

The court ruled out part of the question, but permitted the state to ask if the penalties paid by his brother were not for money which came to him as a court official.

Colonel Cooper answered in the affirmative. The state attempted to get the items and names of plaintiffs into the record, but was blocked by the court.

"Were these bills not filed after your brother had paid the full amount on the bond?"

"Yes, but meantime my brother had been in part reimbursed for the alleged payment on the surety bond."

Cooper Begins to Forget.

"Don't you know that the defense you made against these five bills was that the penalties paid by your sureties equalled your entire bond and that, therefore no more responsibility rested with your bondsmen?"

"I do not recollect."

"This shortage covered a period of many years, didn't it?"

"I do not admit any shortage?"

"Explain it now."

"I will not explain now," said the witness hotly. "Go ahead with the questions."

"You know Mr. Craig?"

"Let the colonel explain now," said Judge Anderson.

"I admit lack of business ability in my office. I had my brother and my brother's son in the office. There were many errors, but every soul who had a dollar in that office got it out and there never was a dishonest act. Of course I am responsible for the errors and do not shirk it. I resigned to enter the legislature."

Cooper and the Defaulter Polk.

"Talking of the legislature," said Fitzhugh, "I ask you if you are the D. B. Cooper mentioned in the legislative records of 1883, who, according to an investigating committee, paid out $45,000 of the state's money in conjunction with State Treasurer Polk for a silver mine in New Mexico?"

"I presume I am."

"And the committee reported that the property bought might be subject to process of law to recover the money?"

The defense objected and was sustained.

Then Colonel Cooper said: "I wish my counsel would permit the prosecutor to ask any question he wants about anything he wants."

"With due respect to Colonel Cooper," said Judge Anderson, "counsel must still object to these questions."

The state insisted that its object was to show that charges mentioned had been made publicly and that Cooper didn't shoot anybody. "But when a harmless editorial came," said Fitzhugh, "Cooper was angered fearfully."

"Go on," said the court.

"Was it not true that M. T. Polk, treasurer of Tennessee, furnished the money out of the state treasury to engage in the walnut business?"

"No, sir; Polk supplied the money, but I do not know that a dollar ever came from the treasury."

"You promoted that silver mine with Polk, didn't you?"

State's Money to Buy Newspaper.

"No," sir.

"And didn't the same M. T. Polk take $10,000 of the state's money to enable you and others to purchase The Nashville American?"

"No, sir; I never heard of it."

"You did not hear or read of this investigation?"

"Never until this minute. I was in Mexico at the time."

"Didn't you know that there was found in ex-Treasurer Polk's box due bills from you aggregating $50,000?"

"It was an untruth. If such were found they are forgeries."

"I ask that you strike that out of the record," said Judge Anderson.

"Let it stay in, I don't care," said the witness; "I'm not afraid."

"No, we won't," retorted Judge Anderson.

The court ruled with the defense, and notified the jury to disregard the question and answer.

The state next asked Colonel Cooper if he ever read in The Nashville American the sworn statement of Colonel J. C. Fleming. He had not, and stepped vigorously over the state's table to read it.

"Is the statement true?"

"No, sir; not the statement. I was in the Walnut Log and Silver mine transaction with Colonel Polk, but I never handled a dollar and never paid a dollar, but was given an interest for my services."

"While you were a partner of the state of Tennessee—"

Partner of Defaulter Polk.

"I never was a partner of the state treasurer. I was a partner of Colonel Polk."

"You knew he was a poor man, though?"

"No, sir; I thought he was rich."

"You knew he invested $35,000 in one enterprise?"

"No, sir; I knew he put in a large amount."

"Is $35,000 a large amount?"

"It is to me, just now."

"In that Walnut Log venture in North Carolina, was not $48,000 invested by Colonel Polk out of the state's funds?"

"I do not know. I never handled any of the money or believed it came from the state."

"In Colonel Polk's schedule of assets is there not an item, 'D. B. Cooper, borrowed money, $51,000?'"

"Was it not generally published at the time that Treasurer Polk's downfall was due to his business associates?"

The defense sent a dozen rapid-fire objections, which the court sustained, but Colonel Cooper insisted on answering "no" vigorously over his own counsel's commands not to do so. Next the state swung over to the Sunday before the killing.

Cooper Admits Threatening Carmack.

"Did you tell Mr. Craig to tell Carmack that your name must not appear in The Tennessean again and that if it did, he or you must die?"

"No, sir."

"Did you say, 'This must cease or the town is not big enough for both of us?'"

"Yes."

"Did you mean it or was it a bluff?"

"I meant it. I have always believed that a man who has a fighting tongue should keep a fighting body."

"You kept a fighting body?"

"No, sir; I did not. But the man who wrote those editorials had a fighting tongue."

"You meant what?"

"I meant to go to Senator Carmack to tell him that unless the attacks ceased I would expose his public and private affairs, and then I do not believe the town would be big enough for both of us."

"If this was all you meant, why did you arm yourself?"

"For the same reason Senator Carmack armed himself—to protect myself."

The state pressed the witness to tell what passed between Craig and himself and if he believed Craig when the latter said, "Your name shall not appear again."

"I believed he believed what he said."

Cooper Armed Himself.

"But within an hour you went out and armed yourself?"

"I did."

"Not since 1896, when I was a state senator."

"You owned The American?"

"Several times in my life."

"Did not that paper say you made and unmade more politicians than any man in the state?"

"It may have."

"I did not."

"Did not your power and work appeal so to your friends that they seriously discussed creating the office of state auditor for you?"

"I would not have the office at any time."

"Did you ever read this editorial in The American?"

Witness took the paper. General Washington remarked:

"We don't know what it is, but we object to it anyhow."

"I never saw it before," said the witness.

This editorial urged Colonel Cooper's appointment as state auditor if the place were created. Likewise it urged the creation of the office.

"That editorial was published without my knowledge or consent."

Carmack Used Cooper's Own Editorial.

It was ruled out.

The witness was asked if he put any money in The Lancet, a weekly paper. He said he had not, but was an adviser of it. Then he was called upon to say if he knew of an editorial denouncing Governor Cox most bitterly during the Patterson-Cox campaign four years ago. The defense objected.

The state claims that the editorial in The Tennessean charging that Colonel Cooper had made peace between Cox and Patterson, which made Colonel Cooper so angry and started the trouble, was based upon the editorial in The Lancet, Cooper's own paper, one in which the defendant had an interest and over which he exercised some control.

"The defense holds that whether or not The Tennessean editorials were justifiable is not an issue," said Judge Anderson. "It is merely what effect did it have on Colonel Cooper's mind."

A sharp argument followed, and the court ruled out the editorial because it mentioned the names neither of the deceased nor the defendant. The state begged for a chance for more argument, and the jury was sent out. Counsel on both sides talked earnestly until the shadows grew long and the court tired. The gavel fell, and the judge briefly announced that he saw no reason to change his ruling excluding the editorial from the jury. The state made another effort to change the ruling, but without avail, but induced the judge to reserve his decision until tomorrow.

Judge Told Attorneys to Fight.

The attorneys for both sides seemed angry, so Judge Hart said:

"I will adjourn court now, and if you want to fight you can go out and fight all you want to."

"Hereafter, too, when counsel make an objection it must be made by one lawyer. Here we have spent our time listening to speeches, and it must stop."

"If you will force the state to comply with that order we will do so," said Judge Anderson.

"All right," remarked the court.

"I'm going to force you all to do it. I like oratory, but I'm getting surfeited."

Court then adjourned until 9 a. m., tomorrow.

S.S.S. THE ONLY REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is the one and only reliable and certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. This claim is not based on the treatment of a few cases of the disease, here and there, but its success extends over a period of more than forty years, during which time thousands upon thousands have found a cure by the use of this great vegetable remedy. S. S. S. is first of all, an absolutely perfect blood purifier, able to go down into the blood and remove every particle of the virus of Contagious Blood Poison. It cleanses and purifies the circulation, and in this way removes the cause of the trouble. Then nature, assisted by a rich, healthy blood supply, quickly renovates and renews the system, while the symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, skin eruptions, discolored splotches, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., disappear, leaving the body entirely free from the effects of this insidious poison. When S. S. S. has thoroughly cleansed and purified the circulation there is no danger of any future outbreak—the blood is pure and the cause of the disease entirely removed. Home Treatment Book containing many valuable and helpful suggestions for those who are curing themselves with S. S. S., and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

GUESSES SWAMP STANDING EDITOR

Guessing How Teams Will Stand on May 15th Proving Popular.

Have you guessed how the eight teams of the Southern Association will stand on May 15? You haven't? Well you are missing a fine opportunity to win a season pass that entitles you to witness every game played at home after May 15. There are fifty-eight of them on the schedule. It would be mighty fine if you are a baseball fan to see fifty-eight games free of all charges except your car fare to the park, wouldn't it? Well, that's what the winner of this contest gets.

The contest has been running since Monday and the guesses are pouring in. The fans in the city, and the lady fans, too, and the fans in the towns around Atlanta are sending in their guesses and some of them look good from the Standing Editor's point of view, but, of course, he don't know any more how the teams will stand than you do or any one else. It is all guess work, but you may be the lucky one to guess it.

The Standing Editor was in error yesterday when he said that there were 512 different combinations that you could work out. He made his mistake by working it on the cube root when multiplication was the correct way. Isn't it awful, Mabel? But there is exactly 10,320 different combinations you can work out on this, so it will be rather impossible to work them all. That makes the contest that much more interesting. It makes it in the nature of a guessing contest all the way around and every one participating has just as much chance to win as the other.

There are between 150 and 175 guesses received so far and the first one will receive the pass. Every one of those received may be wrong and the first one may be right. No one can tell until May 15. Come on in while the water's warm. It's a good chance and an even chance to win what every baseball fan likes more than anything else, a free ticket.

Remember, the contest closes on April 15, the opening day of the league. The pass will be given away on May 17, a Monday, and the winner will be able to see the game that afternoon with Mobile. Write plainly on your coupons and mail them to The Standing Editor, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

MARIST BASEBALLERS START PRACTICING

A call for candidates was issued Monday morning and a goodly number turned out for the first work-out. The boys were given a short talk by Coach Bean and then went through light training stunts.

The Marist players have their work cut out for them this spring to make a good showing in the Atlanta prep school league. The candidates are not large, and few of them give any indication of being tremendous swatters.

Coach Bean will bend his efforts toward building up a good defensive machine and with good pitching material and a strong infield he hopes for success.

The foundation for a good team was laid last fall, when a great deal of hard practice work was done under Mr. Bean's direction. In consequence, the boys will get a fast start this spring.

No Hart-Schreck Fight.

New Orleans, February 24.—It was announced today by the Westside Athletic Club that the bout scheduled for tonight between Marvin Hart and Mike Schreck had been called off.

HOW TO GET DANIEL WATER

The price of Daniel Water is 10c. per gallon. It is put up in 5 gallon demijohns and shipped just as it flows, pure and healthful, from the spring. We forward it on first train following receipt of order, and it is delivered at your door by the Express Company at a small additional charge. This, added to the price of the water, still leaves it cost less than that of most other mineral waters.

Daniel Water is not acidulous or gaseous. It is alkaline, and when securely corked will remain fresh and pure, and retain all its medicinal values for months, or even years. It is the greatest of all stomach waters, preventing indigestion, with its disagreeable symptoms, and correcting all catarrhal conditions of the stomach and bowels. You will be pleased with its palatable and appetizing taste and general health-promoting virtues. For particulars address Daniel Mineral Water Co., Union Point, Ga.

ASHEVILLE PLAYS ATLANTA TONIGHT

Closing Basketball Game of the Season and the Best One.

The most successful basketball season ever held at the Atlanta Athletic Club will be brought to a close tonight, when the club team plays the five from the Asheville, N. C., Young Men's Christian Association, and this game should, besides being the last one of the season, be the best also.

The Asheville team is the best one in its section of the country. Every man on the team who will play here tonight has been a member of the team for the past three years and so used have the men become to each other's style of play that they have not lost a game in that time. Guess that's going some.

The Asheville team looks pretty husky, too. The men stack up as likely looking athletes, aggressive, quick and accurate, and they should make the club men hurry all the way. About fifteen rooters will accompany the team to Atlanta and help take the victory back to Asheville.

The club men on their part have been working hard for the game. Their practice affairs this week have been fierce and last night there was plenty of ginger in the work-out. They realize that they are up against a tough proposition, and they are going after it as if their lives depended upon it.

The men have been working hard all season to give Atlanta a representative basketball team and they have succeeded in their efforts. All they ask in return is that the basketball fans of the city turn out to witness the game tonight and show their appreciation of the hard work done by the men by a large attendance.

This will also be the last chance to dance at the downtown club house until next fall and it is an assured fact that a large crowd of dancers will be on hand.

The line-up follows:

ATLANTA.	Position.	ASHEVILLE.
Hudson	F	Boger
Jemison	F	Pharr
Atkisson	C	(Capt.) Lipinsky
Doonan (Capt.)	G	Lynch
Thornton	G	Brown

MOBILE IS DOWNED BY BIRMINGHAM TEAM

Birmingham, Ala., February 24.—(Special.)—The Athletic Club defeated Mobile tonight in a rough and tumble game by a score of 27 to 18. The first half ended with the score standing 15 to 14 in favor of Birmingham. Having discovered that Haas was not registered, the officials would not allow him to play tonight, and it is thought that this had something to do with Mobile's defeat. The game was a great one from all standpoints.

The line-up:

BIRMINGHAM.	Position.	MOBILE.
Woodruff	F	Maiden
Thomas	F	Tacon
Ware	C	Martin
Streit	G	Beardsley
Hilty	G	Radcliffe

Summary: Score end of first half, Birmingham 15, Mobile 14; final score, Birmingham 27, Mobile 18; field goals, Woodruff 4, Ware 4, Streit 1, Hilty 1, Maiden 1, Tacon 2, Martin 3; fould goals, Thomas 6, Radcliffe 6; extra points allowed, Birmingham 1; fouls, on Mobile 18, on Birmingham 14. Referee, Patterson; timers, Miles and Duffie; scorer, Wellman.

FOUR-CORNERED MEET OF COLLEGE TRACK TEAMS

Auburn, Emory, Georgia and Tech to Hold Meet at Athens This Year.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—It is practically assured that in May a four-cornered track meet between Emory, Georgia Tech and Auburn will be held in Athens. This meet is an annual affair, and has been held in Atlanta heretofore, but the managers have decided on Athens for the coming meet, which promises to be the best ever held.

This year Emory will send a strong delegation to the Classic City, and it is expected that the teams will be pretty evenly matched. Manager Joe Bryan and Captain Charles S. Ward are sparing no pains in preparation for this year's contest. The team will be coached by Rev. W. H. LaPrade, Jr., an experienced track man, who served on the Emory team and on the Vanderbilt track team for several years, making quite a record as a sprinter. Under Rev. LaPrade's management good material will doubtless be developed here.

GRANT AND PELL BEAT HACKETT AND LITTLE

New York, February 24.—National Champion H. H. Hackett and his partner, R. D. Little, met defeat today in the match for the semi-final round of the National Indoor Tennis championship, at the hands of W. C. Grant and T. R. Pell. The score was 7-5, 7-5. This result will bring Grant and Pell against G. F. Touchard and Dr. W. Rosenbaum for the final round.

The unfinished match in the championship singles resulted in Pell defeating Grant, Holder, in the odd set, the final score being 16-14, 9-7. Tomorrow the finals in both the singles and doubles will be played.

EDDIE ROOT MEETS WALTHOUR FRIDAY

Six-Day Cycle Star Will Meet His Former Partner.

Tomorrow night at the St. Nicholas Velodrome, Eddie Root, a two-time winner at six-day races, one of the leading sprint riders of the world, and Walthour's partner in the recent six-day race at Madison Square Garden, will race Walthour, and the meeting of these two men should prove close and exciting to the end.

Root is one of the best followers known to the bicycle racing game. He is a part of his pacing machine at all times, and will make Walthour hurry when they meet.

There will be the usual fast sprint races between the celebrated cyclists who are now at the track, the one-mile handicap race and the five-mile sprint. In addition to this, there will be the two-mile motor race between Lawson and Turville.

Elmer Collins is trying to get an extension of his time from the Berlin track, so as to stay over in Atlanta and race Walthour again, and if he does, there is sure to be a large crowd on hand to see them ride.

TAMPA.

Tampa, Fla., February 24.—Rain this afternoon kept down the attendance at the races. The track was sloppy, but Dolly Bultmon's time in the third rce was the fastest 5 furlongs that has been run at the meeting.

By the conditions of the sixth race the winner, Expect to See, became the property of the association and cannot be used again for racing purposes. The purse, $200, went to the winner.

The third race was the feature, the winner, Dolly Bultmon, opened at 12 to 1, was backed down to 6 to 1 and closed at 8 to 1. Summaries:

CLASS BASEBALL TEAMS ROUNDING INTO SHAPE

Emory College Will Boast of Five Good Class Teams This Spring.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., February 24.—(Special.)—Five class teams are now in daily practice here for the approaching baseball season, and the managers and captains of the various class aggregations are rounding out their men for the opening games of the season. It has not yet been definitely decided when the season will open, but it will probably be some time in March. The diamnod of the new athletic field, which was presented to the undergraduates by President James E. Dickey, is being pushed to completion for the opening games. This diamond is modeled on the plan of the famous turtleback diamond at Memphis, Tenn.

This year the seniors will probably have the strongest team in college, the majority of their players being old men, who have played together before. The sophomores have returned a majority of last year's men, and the junior team will be strong enough to make things interesting for the others. The freshmen are nearly all new men, but are showing up remarkably well at practices. The greatest surprise will come from the subfreshman class, which promises to turn out a husky nine that will figure much more promiently than has previously been customary among the subs. So, altogether, the coming season bids fair to be one of unusual interest.

INDEPENDENTS PLAY ALL-STAR BASKETBALLERS

The Atlanta Athletic Club Reserves have closed their basketball season. They will not play the All-Stars tonight, as has been announced all week, but a fine preliminary game has been arranged for the evening, the first half starting at 8 o'clock and the second between the halves of Asheville-Atlanta game.

The game booked for the preliminary is between the Independents and the All-Stars, and this should be a rattling good game. It is not known what the line-up of these two teams will be definitely, but both teams have experienced basketball men, and there is sure to be some tall doings when they meet tonight.

Treaties Ratified by Senate.

Washington, February 24.—Treaties with Panama and Colombia relating to the Panama canal were ratified by the senate today. In approving the conventions the senate, however, adopted a resolution which is intended to obviate the necessity of submitting to arbitration questions connected with the limitation of the cities of Panama and Colon.

Violated Racing Law.

New Orleans, February 24.—W. W. Lyles, charged with violating the so-called Locke anti-racing law in the recent test at the City Park race track, was today found guilty in the criminal district court. Sentence was deferred pending the trials of Edward Corrigan and W. S. Haselip on the same charge.

WILL FORAKER HIT ROOSEVELT?

Ohio Senator Has Control in Merger Controversy

Upon Foraker and Clarke of Arkansas Depends Whether Senate Judiciary Committee Will Administer Severe Rebuke to President.

Washington, February 24.—Upon Senators Foraker, of Ohio, and Clarke, of Arkansas, depend whether the judiciary committee of the senate will declare the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company by the United States Steel Corporation to have been in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and whether President Roosevelt was authorized by law to sanction the merger.

The committee was in session for more than two hours today, having under consideration the report of the majority of the subcommittee, which investigated the merger, and by a vote of 3 to 2, condemned the merger and the president's action in permitting it. Finally, it was agreed to meet again on Monday next and vote upon the report.

How Committee Stands.

Senators Kittridge, Culberson and Overman, who signed the majority report, claim that the vote of the committee will be at least 7 to 6, or possibly 8 to 5 for its adoption. This claim is opposed by Senators Clark, of Wyoming, and Dillingham, the minority of the subcommittee, and by Senator Knox, who are working to uphold the president's course. Other members do not profess to know how Senators Clarke, of Arkansas, and Foraker will vote. Known to be for the report are Messrs. Nelson and Kittredge, republicans, and Bacon, Culbereon, Overman and Rayner, democrats.

Against it are Messrs. Clark, of Wyoming; Depew, Dillingham, Knox and Fulton, all republicans.

Report Modified.

At the suggestion of Mr. Overman the report was modified today to the extent that the assertion that the merger was in violation of the Sherman law was changed to a declaration that the deal "appears to the committee to be a violation of the law."

It was contended by a number of republican senators on the committee who opposed the report that the action of the president should not be analyzed now in a judicial manner, unless the subject is treated as an act performed during the stress of a business panic.

The minority of the subcommittee filed a typewritten statement, which is to be printed asserting that the committee had exceeded its functions under the resolution of the senate by introducing evidence which had not been before the president when he mentioned the merger, and that the committee had judged the case upon this new evidence, which the president had not the opportunity to consider.

Inauguration Special.

In addition to regular train service the Southern Railway will have on Tuesday, March 2, a high-class train to leave Atlanta at 11:30 a. m. This train will carry dining car, day coaches and Pullman sleepers and will arrive Washington at 7 a. m. Write James Freeman, district passenger agent, or call at city ticket office, No. 1 Peachtree street.

PERRY'S BOWLERS WIN TWO GAMES FROM SUTTON

The third match game of the fourth round of the bowling tournament at the Atlanta Athletic Club was played last night between the teams captained by Perry and Sutton, and resulted in the former winning two games and the latter one.

Perry's team also excelled in the total pins made, rolling in the three games 1,614. Sutton's team made 1,538. This gives Perry's team a standing in the league of .583 and Sutton .500.

Captain Perry rolled sensational ten pins last night. His work was the best of the tournament so far. Not satisfied with beating the highest individual score of the tournament in his first game, he beat that in his third game, rolling 236 in his first game and 243 in his third. Not content with his he rolled the highest individual total pins for three games, making 630, and also the highest individual average for three games, making 210. By his work last night Captain Perry moves up into first place in the individual standing for the twelve games, but he is not out of danger yet, as there are four other men who are within easy reaching distance.

PHILLIES BOUGHT BY CAPITALISTS

Philadelphia, Pa., February 24.—The North American of this morning prints the following:

"Today at noon the Philadelphia National League Baseball Club will pass into the ownership and control of Contractor James P. McNichol, Banker Clarence Wolf and Israel W. Durham, all state senators.

Arrangements for the transfer of this valuable piece of sporting property were completed yesterday, and all that remains is the formality of signing documents.

"All indications point to the retirement of William J. Shettsline from active participation in the affairs of the club, as either its president or as an employee, but supervision of the team will remain in the hands of William Murray, the present manager.

"All the stock held by the men forming the Philadelphia Baseball Club at the close of the season just passed, has been bought up, to be turned over to McNichol and Durham, except the comparatively few shares owned by Mr. Shetslene, and those held by Manager Murray, who recently took over the Dreyfuss holdings, supposed to be in the neighborhood of $50,000."

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

COTTON MADE BREAK IN MIDDLE SESSION

But the Loss Was Recovered and the Close of Market Was Steady.

New York, February 24.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled today, but after quite a sharp break during the middle session, the loss was recovered, with the close very steady, net unchanged to 4 points higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 1 point, which was about as due on the cables, but after some early irregularity, the market weakened under reports that southern spinners would meet at Charlotte tomorrow to discuss curtailment, rumors of short time in Manchester, talk of easier spot markets in the south, and a renewal of Wall street liquidation. Stop-loss orders were uncovered on the decline, and the old crop months sold off to a net loss of 8 points. Some of the old crop sellers appeared to be buying late months, which also received support, owing to the continued absence of soaking rains in the southwest, with the result that they ruled relatively steady and sold only 3 to 4 points under the closing figures of last night. A rally to about last night's finals was followed by a dip, when southern spot markets reported early were seen to be 1-8@1-4c lower, but in the last half-hour the market improved on covering, with the active months touching the best prices of the day, and closing at practically the top. Sales for the day were estimated at about 200,000 bales. Nearly all the large commission houses were heavy sellers at times, probably representing the liquidation of old longs, who had become discouraged by the recent failure of the market to make headway on the bull side, and the unsettled condition of the steel trade.

Receipts at the ports today 10,670 bales, against 24,751 last week, and 23,765 last year. For the week 140,000 bales, against 140,841 last week, and 121,056 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 391, against 6,643 last year.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 9.65; middling gulf 9.90; sales 500.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, February 24.—Spot cotton weak and unchanged; middling 9 7-16. Sales on the spot 450 bales; to arrive none. Futures opened steady at a decline of 14 to 20 points, the market trying to adjust itself to the differences established during the holidays in New York and Liverpool. A few March notices were circulated and add to the confusion on the long side. At the lowest prices were net 14 to 24 points down. The close was steady, with prices showing a net decline of 11 to 22 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, February 24.—The dry goods market continues steady in the jobbing house division. The primary markets are rather more quiet and have been affected, sentimentally at least, by the disturbances in other markets. A meeting of yarn spinners has been called to attempt arrangements to curtail production.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, February 24.—Closing: Cotton, spot in fair demand; prices 6 points lower; American middling fair 5.87; good middling 5.81; middling 5.01; low middling 4.81; good ordinary 4.41; ordinary 4.06. The sales of the day were 12,000 bales, of which 1,000 were for speculation and export and included 11,600 American. Receipts 40,000 bales, including 31,600 American. Futures opened and closed steady.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 24.—So long as Liverpool was open, arbitrage buyers supported this market, taking the offers and selling in Liverpool, after which the market eased off under what looked like Wall street liquidation, but the traders are looking for a reaction tomorrow and under their buying a rally followed. Some investment demand was apparent on a scale down in the new crops, as the recent showers in Texas are not thought to have been sufficient to break the drought. Elsewhere the cotton belt has had all the rain needed. The trade will now watch the action of spinners or the progress of the new crop for a guide to activity. In the last few months the market rallied in anticipation of a reaction in Liverpool tomorrow.

STOCKS ARE CHECKED IN THEIR DECLINE

Short Interests Reduce Their Lines—Market Showed More Stability.

New York, February 24.—There came a check today to the disorderly liquidation which was rushing the market into a state of demoralization. The perception that the course of yesterday, if continued, would lead to that result, prompted some measures of effective support today. The large short interest, which has grown rapidly with the swift fall in prices for a week past, were prompted to reduce their short lines with the signs of a greater stability in the market. This demand was a potent influence in the recovery of prices. That recovery was some time in shaping itself definitely and exhibited occasional hesitations and uncertainties, which seemed to indicate a lack of strong conviction on the part of buyers. The liquidation obviously had spent much of its force. The buying demand, however, was languid. After periods of dullness, caused by its mutual indifference by the buying by the buyers and sellers, the traders tested the market by advancing bids. This process was repeated many times, with apparent discouragement, when the apparent increased volume of selling on the advances were perceived. Each time, however that prices were allowed to slip back, the activity diminished. The recovery owed much to a sober view of some of the consideration which figured in the weakness of yesterday. Reports yesterday that the supreme court had decided against the anthracite roads in the commodities clause, were disproved today. This accounted for the leadership assumed by Reading in the recovery. There was a better feeling also over the steel trade outlook and a growth of confidence that the price concessions on steel products were a preliminary to revival in the trade. The process of speculative deflation called for by the trade readjustment going on was recognized to have made great progress in the abrupt collapse in prices which has already occurred. The proportions of the market readjustment thus called for, obtained clearer form, and were corrected from the extravagant assumptions of yesterday that an immediate relapse to the acute conditions of depression and contraction of 1907 was in prospect.

The money market was unaffected by the large operations of the day. The call for return of $30,000,00 of government deposits to the treasury matured today, and the New York banks turned over many millions of this amount yesterday and today on account of interior correspondents. Over a million dollars in gold was engaged for shipment to Argentina. Late prices were dearer than yesterday to the extent of $5 a share for Reading, $3 for United States Steel, and some of the minor steel industrials, and from $2 to $3 a share for the most prominent railroad stocks.

The bond market was irregular. Total sales, par value, $7,500,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

London Stock Market.

London, February 24.—The slump on the New York stock exchange, caused by the steel rate war and the adverse supreme court decision in the New York Central railway debating case, was received on the stock exchange early today. The values of American rails were marked down from 1 to 5 points, but it soon became evident that the market considered the decline overdone, and covering operations from New York, the continent and local sources caused a smart recovery. Steel at noon stood 1½ points over the New York equivalent at 43 9-16, after opening at 44¾, while the low-priced shares attracted attention at prices varying from ½ to 1 point over parity. The entire tone of the market at 12:20 is quite good, after considerable business.

JULY WHEAT JUMPS NEARLY TWO CENTS

Market Closed Firm and Near the Highest Point of the Day—Corn Firm.

Chicago, February 24.—Shifts of scenery by leading bulls in the wheat pit brought the July delivery into the foreground today, and that option advanced to a point nearly 2c above the closing figures of the previous session, the high mark of the day being reached at $1.03⅝. The market closed strong and only a trifle below the high point. Corn closed firm and oats and provisions steady.

The principal owners of the wheat for May delivery turned their attention today to the July option, of which month they bought freely throughout the entire day. This stirred to activity a large number of sleeping shorts, and purchases from these interests added greatly to the volume of business, which was unusually heavy all day. During the day the price ranged from ¼ to 1⅞c above yesterday's final quotations. Trade in May was quiet, and the price of that option ranged from ¼c below to ⅝c above the previous close. Further sharp advances in the price of wheat at nearly all the principal grain centers of Europe, reports of "winter-killed" wheat in Missouri and a continued brisk demand for cash wheat in this country were aids to the bulls in their efforts to force prices higher. During the day July sold between $1.01 3-4@1.03⅝. The market closed strong, with prices ¼ to ⅝@1 3-4 above the previous close, final quotations on July being $1.03⅛@¼. May at the finish showed a net gain of ⅛c closing at $1.16.

Notwithstanding receipts of more than 1,000 cars, the corn market was strong from start to finish. A number of cash interests that sold freely yesterday were active buyers today, and there was also considerable covering by shorts. Demand for cash corn by eastern shippers was said to be on the increase. The market closed strong with prices up ⅝@½ to ½@⅝c, with May at 65¾, and July 65⅛@⅛c.

Oats were inclined to drag, but the strength of wheat and corn prevented any declines. Receipts from the interior, it was claimed, were likely to continue on a liberal scale for some days, and with a falling off in demand, the price of the cash grain was inclined to sag. At the close, prices were a shade lower to ⅛c higher, compared with the previous close, May being 54½@⅝, and July at 49⅜.

Trade in provisions was extremely light, and prices ranged within narrow limits. A 5 to 10c advance in the price of live hogs had a steadying effect on the market. At the close prices were unchanged to 2½c higher, compared with yesterday's final quotations.

TURNER MAY RESIGN AS COUNTY POLICE CHIEF

When the board of county commissioners meet on next Wednesday the naming of a new chief of county police will probably take place, for current and persistent rumor is to the effect that Chief A. Q. Turner has tendered his resignation to E. V. Carter, chairman of the board, to go into effect as soon as a successor can be named.

Neither Chief Turner nor Chairman Carter will discuss the matter, and, as neither will affirm or deny the report, it is confidently believed that there is substantial ground for the report.

Chief Turner was elected under civil service, and his resignation is due to no formal charges made against him to the board by any one, but is made voluntarily by him. He has made a splendid official and there will be many to regret his resigning as head of Fulton's county police.

Considerable friction was caused several weeks ago between Chief Turner and Sheriff Mangum, when the latter refused to deputize him as chief. Later the deputization took place, and it was thought that all differences had been settled, but what part this friction plays with the supposed action of the chief is not known. Marshal E. P. Ryan, of Oakland City; J. W. Maddox, formerly of the county police force, and Zach Rowan, of the city detective force, are mentioned as possible candidates for the place.

Linden Court Apartments

This beautiful, new apartment house on Linden street, just off Peachtree, is now nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy about March 1. It is a three-story, pressed brick building, two apartments to each floor, each apartment having six rooms. The interior arrangement is such as to give three bedrooms, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, private hall, butler's pantry and bath room; and the finish throughout is superb. Every modern apartment house device has been used in the construction of this building and the location, surroundings and accessibility make these apartments especially desirable. If rented now, tenants can select colors for walls.
